Violence Flares In Baltimore Over School Desegregation

Police Escort Pupils From Southern High

BALTIMORE, Oct. 1 (AP) — A crowd of about 400 white adults and teenagers shouted angry threats at Negro pupils leaving Southern High School today as demonstrations against combined white and Negro classes in Baltimore public schools gained momentum.

Police hustled the Negro pupils out of Southern High two or three at a time into prowl cars and took them home.

The crowd milled after three of them.

Jack Zimmerman, 24-year-old unemployed shipyard worker from 28 blocks away, was fined $100 on an assault charge for hitting the lad.

Two other white men and a Negro were fined $25 for disorderly conduct.

Teacher Rescues Pair

A young woman physical education teacher rescued a Negro boy and girl after they had been surrounded by demonstrators. She drove into the crowd, took the two youngsters into her car, and sped off with them.

The crowd tried to upset the cruiser in which Zimmerman and the Thompson boy were taken to a police station.

Police had squelched an earlier threat of violence at Southern High, one of six schools to which picketing, boycotts and protests spread today. There are only 36 Negroes among the 1,780 enrolled at Southern.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro issued a public statement saying the situation had become "a matter of serious concern." He pleaded against any inflammatory action and asked everyone to be calm.

Attendance Cut Sharply

The school board stuck by its announced intention of keeping schools open, with Negroes and whites assigned to study together at 52 of the 190 buildings.

Attendance was cut sharply at three schools as parents came to take their children home. Many explained they did not insist on segregation but feared their youngsters would be hurt.

Very few of the 581 pupils showed up today at school No. 34, where pickets made their first appearance yesterday. Integrated classes had been in operation almost four weeks without a sign of friction between white and Negro pupils.

U. S. Protest Sent Directly To China

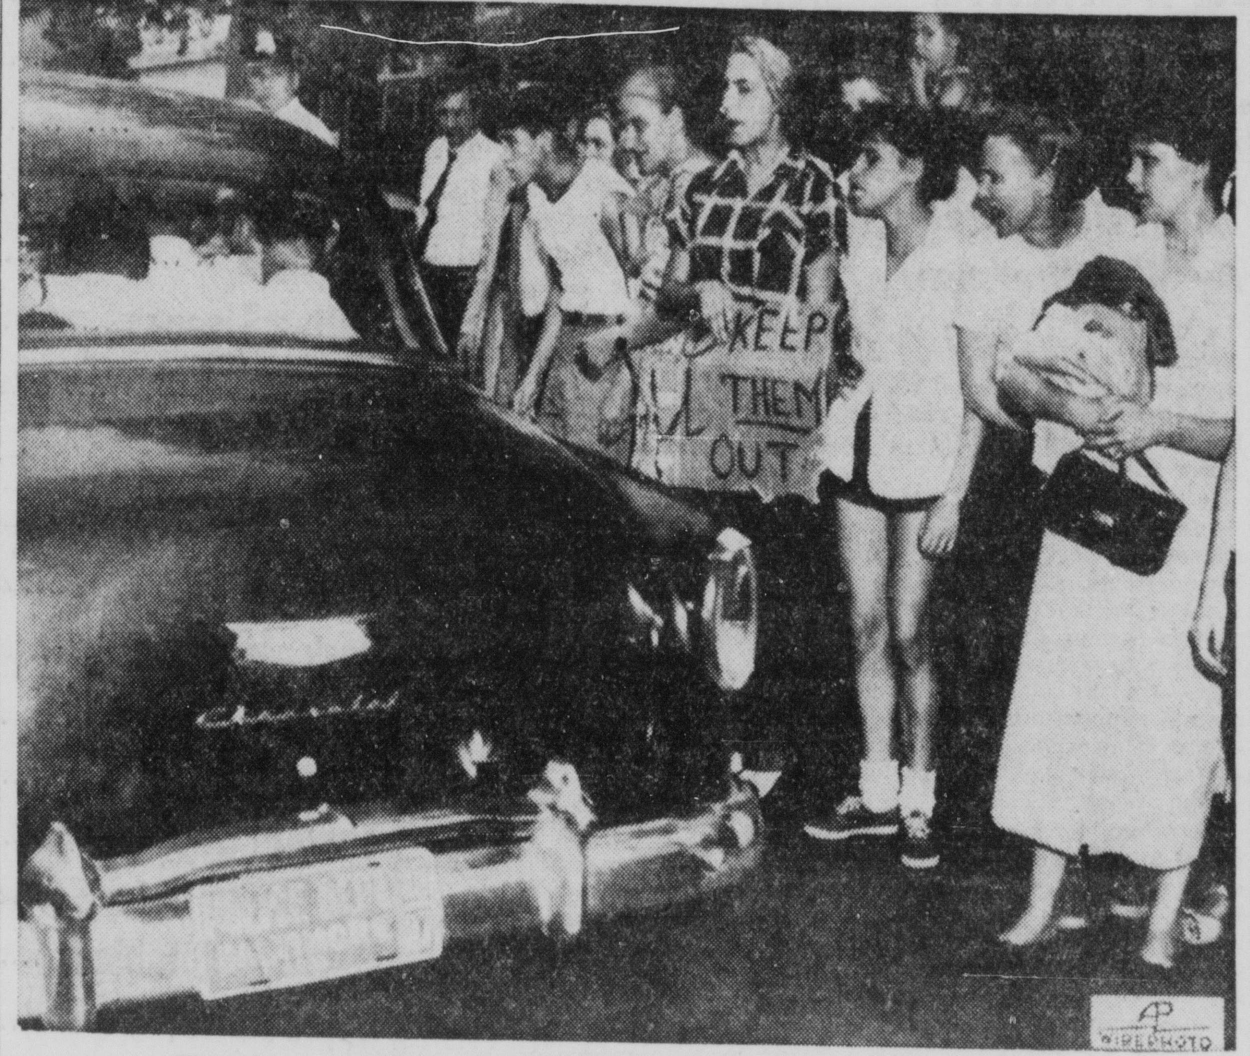
WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—The State Department announced today it has protested directly to Communist China against the sentencing of Shanghai businessman Hugh F. Redmond to life imprisonment on the ground he was a spy.

The action apparently constituted the first time outside the U. S. contacts with Chinese Reds at the Geneva conference that such a protest has been made directly instead of through Britain as an intermediary.

The protest was delivered by John Christopher Shillock Jr., of the U.S. consulate general at Geneva. He dealt with the Chinese Communist consul at Geneva. This procedure was agreed upon by U. S. officials during last summer's Geneva conference when they negotiated directly with Red Chinese officials for the release of American citizens in China.

Tribute To Columbus

DENVER, Oct 1 (AP)—President Eisenhower today designated Oct. 12 as Christopher Columbus Day and urged the nation to observe the anniversary of his discovery of America with appropriate ceremonies.



Police Escort For Negro Students

A Baltimore police escort was provided for Negro students at Southern High School yesterday as a crowd of about 400 white adults and teenagers shouted angry threats in a demonstration against integration. This scene shows some of the pickets as students were escorted to their homes.

White Pupils End School Boycott; Negroes Absent

MILFORD, Del., Oct. 1 (AP) — School buses crowded with white pupils returning to classes signalled the end today of a spreading boycott protesting admission of Negro pupils to Milford High School.

Eleven Negro high school pupils remained at home, their educational future uncertain. They had attended the formerly all-white school under a school board decision to comply with the U. S. Supreme Court ban on racial segregation. They were barred yesterday when a newly-formed board reversed the previous decision in the wake of protest meetings, burning crosses and the refusal of many white pupils to attend classes here and in nearby South Delaware communities.

Just where the Negro students would attend classes next week apparently had not been determined.

Edmund F. Steiner, new president of the Milford School Board, said they probably would report to classes at the all-Negro William Henry High School in Dover, 18 miles to the north. But Dr. George F. Miller, state superintendent of public schools, said no decision has been reached and Dr. Ramon C. Cobbs, Milford school superintendent, said the decision is up to the State Board of Education.

12-Year-Old Boy Fights Gun Battle With 15 Policemen

MANITOU SPRINGS, Colo., Oct. 1 (AP)—A 12-year-old boy fired more than 50 shots from two pistols today in a gun battle with 15 policemen at this resort town west of Colorado Springs.

Police Chief Earl Sullivan said no one was hurt and the boy, Travis Wisenberg, surrendered after 90 minutes of trading shots. The chief said the officers were careful not to hit the boy and shot their guns only in an effort to get him to give up.

Sullivan said Wisenberg recently was released from the State Industrial School at Golden.

The boy was cornered on a gravel bluff after an off-duty policeman caught him trying to steal a truck.

Pa. State Officials Accused Of 'Macing'

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 1 (AP) — Fifteen state officials and employes —including Gov. John S. Fine's top assistant and one of his Cabinet members — were indicted today on charges of conspiring to force state workers to contribute funds to a Republican political campaign.

Among those indicted by an Allegheny County grand jury were Artemas C. Leslie, state insurance commissioner, a Cabinet member; and Frederick P. Hare, the governor's administrative assistant.

They are charged with conspiring to "mace" or unlawfully demand money from public employes for political purposes.

Oppenheimer Renamed Head Of N. J. Institute

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP)—Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, barred four months ago from the nation's atom secrets, today was re-elected director of the Institute and Advanced Study at Princeton, N.J.

The decision by the institute's 15-man board allows Oppenheimer to continue his research in fundamental physics, without access to secret data.

The re-election of Oppenheimer to the post he has held since 1947 was reportedly unanimous.

Helped Develop A-Bomb

The 50-year-old Oppenheimer was a brilliant scientific leader in the race to develop the world's first atom bomb for this country.

But he drew criticism upon himself by his admitted association with known Communists and by his 1949 opposition to proceeding with the development of the hydrogen bomb.

Oppenheimer denied that he, himself, ever was a Communist. And he added that once President Truman gave the go-ahead on the H-bomb he went all out to cooperate.

Not Disloyal But Risk

Last June, by a 4-1 vote, the Atomic Energy Commission denied Oppenheimer further access to atomic secrets. Their chief complaint was "his persistent and continuing association with Communists."

The commissioners agreed that he was not disloyal to his country but the majority called him a security risk nonetheless.

Financier Guarded As Kidnaping Feared

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP)—Police today set a 24-hour guard over Louis E. Wolfson, the young financier who is battling for control of Montgomery Ward, after Miami police warned that he might be kidnaped.

Wolfson, 42, the current "boy wonder" of Wall Street, arrived in New York yesterday from Miami, where he has a home.

The police assigned an around-the-clock detective guard to his suite at the Hotel Pierre.

TAIPEH, Formosa, Saturday, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Chinese Communists, with Russian advisers, today were reported assembling a fleet of military craft on the approaches to the Tachen Islands, northern anchor of Nationalist bases off the Red mainland.

Lacks Jurisdiction In Nev. Senate Tussle, Court Rules

RENO, Nev., Oct. 1 (AP)—Nevada's Supreme Court ruled today it lacked jurisdiction in the dramatic legal tussle between Republicans and Democrats over the status of the U.S. Senate seat vacated by the death of Sen. Pat McCarran, a Democrat.

The high court refused in Carson City to block certification of two candidates by the secretary of state for the Nov. 2 general elections. Republicans had sought to block the certification by court ruling, contending the seat already had been filled by appointment by Nevada's Republican governor.

"We'll proceed in the lower courts," commented Lester Summerfield, Republican Central Committee attorney, after hearing the ruling. "We have just begun to fight. We felt this was the only orderly way to settle the matter. Time "was so short."

Earlier today Nevada's Republican governor named a Republican to fill the vacant Senate post. The Democrats later nominated a candidate to oppose him if the seat is contested in the Nov. 2 election.

Gov. Charles Russell appointed Ernest Brown, 51, a Reno attorney and reserve Army colonel, to Sen. McCarran's seat, making the Senate lineup 49 Republicans, 46 Democrats and one Independent.

This afternoon the State Democratic Committee unanimously nominated Alan Bible, Reno attorney and once a protege of McCarran. Then representatives of the meeting sped 30 miles to Carson City to file the nominating papers.

High French Officials Leak Data To Reds

Two Defense Aides Confess As Major Scandal Threatens

PARIS, Oct. 1 (AP)—The French counter-espionage service disclosed today that two high and trusted defense officials had confessed leaking secret information from the National Defense Council, top military planning body of the nation.

The disclosure came after the two men had been questioned all last night in the case that is threatening to blow up into a major political scandal—how did reports from top secret meetings of the Defense Council reach the Communist party's high command?

Turpin, Labrusse Accused

The officials named were Rene Turpin, chief of the personal staff of the permanent secretary general for national defense, and Roger Labrusse, chief administrator of the same department.

Both men were arrested and questioned all last night by counter-intelligence agents and today by the military magistrate who under French law, acts as a sort of one-man grand jury in such an investigation. The men were taken to Fresnes Prison on the southern outskirts of Paris tonight.

A brief police announcement saying the men had confessed avoided any mention of who got the leaked information. The statement said the two suspects, under questioning on leaks from the National Defense Council, "have admitted to being the authors of the leaks."

Turpin Ringleader

Well-informed sources at the Ministry of Interior indicated it is Turpin who is principally implicated. LaBrusse, it was alleged, acted only as intermediary in passing on the information Turpin obtained.

Andrew Baranes, a Communist newspaperman and police informer, has disappeared since undergoing interrogation about the affair more than a week ago. A warrant was issued yesterday for Baranes' arrest.

Czechs Free Yanks Today

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Oct. 1 (AP)—Two American soldiers, seized as "spies" by a Communist Czech patrol at the German - Czech border Sept. 17, will be released tomorrow, U.S. Army headquarters said tonight.

An Army announcement said the U.S. Embassy in Prague had been notified by Czech authorities that 1st Lt. Richard Dries of St. Albans, Long Island, N.Y., and Pfc. George Pisk of Austin, Tex., will be turned over to Army representatives near the Bavarian border town of Waidhaus at noon (6 a.m. EST.)

Two days after their arrest near Eslarn, Germany, The Czechoslovak government charged in a formal note they were inside Czech territory on an espionage mission at the time. The note accused them of "photographing military installations and carrying out observation with field glasses."

Army headquarters rejected the charges, declaring the soldiers were on a legitimate mission and were picked up on West German territory.

Deluge Ends Drought, Poses Flood Threat

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 1 (AP)—Near cloudbursts in southeastern Oklahoma which until two days ago was one of the state's worst drought disaster areas, today posed a new threat—flooding of the region's three big rivers.

Torrential 48-hour rains have dumped more than a foot of water into one community and nearly a foot at another, bringing flood threats on the Boggy, Kiamichi and Little Rivers.

Sobol in Pushmataha County reported rainfall the last two days of 12.71 inches.

Hugo in central Choctaw County has measured 11.70 inches in the same period, 8½ inches of this coming within a few hours.

Viet Nam Chief Moves To End Political Crisis

SAIGON, Indochina, Oct. 1 (AP)—Acting to end South Viet Nam's political crisis, Chief of State Bao Dai today cracked down on Premier Ngo Dinh Diem and ordered him to take rebellious Army Chief of Staff Gen. Nguyen Van Hinh into his Cabinet.

In emphatic cables from his vacation retreat on the French Riviera, the ex-emperor also directed the premier to bring two other generals, Bai Vien—a close friend of Bao Dai—and former Vice Premier Nguyen Van Xuan, into the government.

Diem Put On Spot

The chief of state's action appeared to put Diem squarely on the spot. A spokesman said the premier had not yet decided what to do. Informed sources said he may balk at accepting Gen. Hinh. If so, it seemed likely Bao Dai would ask for the premier's resignation.

The two generals and Xuan indicated they would accept Cabinet posts if the premier pledges to carry out reforms he has promised.

The crisis began building three weeks ago. At that time the premier, fearing Gen. Hinh and the Army were plotting a coup against him, ordered the Army chief to leave for France. Hinh refused and retired behind sandbags and barbed wire at his house in neary Cholon.

Xuan Stepped Out

Seeking to patch up the quarrel and appease the army, Premier Diem appointed Xuan, long a strong Viet Nam political figure, vice premier and defense minister only last Sept. 17. Stepping out after a week in office, Xuan called on Bao Dai to remove Diem in favor of a new leader.

Delegates Wonder How Far Russia Prepared To Go

These delegates and some neutral sources here said privately that Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky apparently took an affirmative step yesterday in putting his atomic proposals before the U.N. Assembly. But they said he ruined the effect by voicing the usual Soviet assault on the United States and others and by accusing Nationalist China of piracy in Formosa Strait.

Major Points Raised

In brief, here are some of the major points raised by delegates in conversations on the Vishinsky plan:

1. Vishinsky said that in the first stage, in six months or a year, states should reduce their armaments, armed forces and budgetary appropriations for military requirements to the extent of 50 per cent of agreed levels. What are the agreed levels? Does Vishinsky consider the level to be a flat, one-third cut of military establishments — so often proposed by Moscow and rejected by the West.

2. Vishinsky proposed a temporary international control commission under the Security Council with the right to require states to report measures to reduce armaments and armed forces. That goes back to an early American objection, first voiced by Bernard M. Baruch against subjecting any international atomic control organ to veto in the Security Council. Does Vishinsky consider the veto would apply to the control organization?

Inspection Issue

3. Vishinsky proposed that in the second and permanent stage of elimination of atomic and hydrogen weapons there be a standing international organ to supervise the implementation of the treaty prohibiting weapons of mass destruction. He did not say whether this permanent organization should have full powers of supervision, "including the power of inspection on a continuing basis to the extent necessary to insure implementation of the convention by all states."

Wreckage Of B24 That Vanished 11 Years Ago Found

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1 (AP) — A Liberator bomber with 12 men aboard lifted off the runway at California's Salinas Air Force Base on July 5, 1943 — and was never seen again.

Today the mystery of the missing B24 was solved.

Actress' Son To Wed

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1 (AP)—Sgt. Larry Hagman, son of actress Mary Martin, will wed Mag Irene Axelsson, Swedish-born dress designer, in London on Christmas Day, Miss Martin said today.

Youth Who Boasted Of His "Perfect Crime" Gets Life

DEDHAM, Mass., Oct. 1 (AP) — A six-foot, 18-year-old preparatory school student, who trapped himself by boasting of his "perfect crime," was sentenced to prison for life today for strangling his mother's dressmaker.

He said he did it "for kicks and thrills."

In Norfolk County Superior Court session that took less than two minutes, Ronald S. Blumenthal, son of a Brookline liquor dealer, pleaded guilty of second degree murder and was sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Frank J. Donahue.

The boy, a puzzling product of a good home and good schools, flushed as he entered his plea. It was the first time he had shown emotion in public since his arrest on July 29. His father, Barney, seated behind the prisoners cage, broke into tears. The boy's mother was not in court.

Dist. Atty. Myron Lane's willingness to accept the second degree plea saved young Blumenthal from trial and possible conviction of first degree murder, for which the mandatory penalty is execution unless the trial jury recommends clemency.

Under the mandatory life term for second degree murder, the boy may be paroled after 15 years, while still a young man.

Blumenthal killed Mrs. Ora Schonar who, at 52 was almost thrice his age. Her body was found in her Brookline apartment July 28. She had been slain late the previous afternoon — strangled manually, beaten repeatedly on the head with a rolling pin, and stabbed in the chest with a 6½-inch bread knife. A piece of cloth was wrapped around her neck like a noose, and her feet bound with a pair of khaki shorts.

The motive never was disclosed.

Talks Plunged Into Crisis By Surprise Veto

Compromise On Arms Control Is Too Weak, Mendes-France Says

LONDON, Oct. 1 (AP)—With a surprise veto tonight France blocked a compromise plan to free and rearm West Germany within the Western defense alliance. The action plunged the nine-power conference on Western European unity into an unexpected crisis.

A British Foreign Office spokesman immediately warned that the Churchill government will withdraw its 48-hour-old offer to maintain troops on the European continent if the conference breaks down.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has already warned the United States might have to withdraw its troops from Europe unless the talks succeed. He made no move to change his plans for going home tomorrow night, and an American source expressed confidence the new snags would be overcome.

French Move Unexpected

A highly placed conference source said that although the new development was serious, the conference "cannot be written off at this point." He said calm counsel may prevail overnight.

After the conference had been reported moving rapidly toward success, France suddenly rejected a compromise plan to bring West Germany within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and an enlarged seven-nation Brussels conference alliance.

Yesterday, French Premier Pierre Mendes-France was reported to have accepted the compromise—advanced by Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak—to give NATO and the enlarged Brussels grouping joint controls aimed at preventing any runaway German rearmament.

French Plan Cumbersome

Today, Mendes-France told the conference the Spaak plan did not go far enough in rigidly controlling every aspect of the manufacture and distribution of arms.

Instead he demanded fuller consideration of his own program, which called for controls to rest mainly in the hands of a new European Armaments Authority.

Other delegates had turned down the French Premier's plan as too cumbersome and too difficult to operate. Thousands of persons would have to be employed within the executive agency, they said. They argued that its effect would be to slow down the pace of European industry.

Spaak's compromise proposal was designed to simplify and streamline the process of controlling arms production and distribution.

Ex-Rep. Doughton Of N. C. Dies At 90

LAUREL SPRINGS, N.C., Oct. 1 (AP)—Former Rep. Robert L. Doughton, who wrote the tax bills for the New Deal and the Fair Deal and gave the country its first social security law, died at his home here last night.

Death came peacefully for the 90-year-old Democratic lawmaker who took his congressional seat from a Republican in 1910 and kept it 42 years. A member of his family, going into his room to awaken him early today, found him dead in his bed.

As chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Doughton was given credit for writing more tax bills than any other man in United States history. Franklin D. Roosevelt had just become President when Doughton took over the committee chairmanship in 1933. It fell his duty to be the financial architect for the staggering sums needed for economic recovery, for World War II and for postwar rehabilitation throughout the world.

In 1952, after 42 years in the House, the veteran "Muley Bob"—as his friends affectionately knew him—announced he was retiring to the quiet of his two-story frame home here amid North Carolina's Blue Ridge Mountains.

His doctors had ordered him to "take it easier."

But he still found time for Democratic party affairs, often showing up to speak for a candidate. He served as the North Carolina party's national committeeman from his retirement until early this year when his health forced him to step down.

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Oct. 1 (AP)—Two American soldiers, seized as "spies" by a Communist Czech patrol at the German - Czech border Sept. 17, will be released tomorrow, U.S. Army headquarters said tonight.

An Army announcement said the U.S. Embassy in Prague had been notified by Czech authorities that 1st Lt. Richard Dries of St. Albans, Long Island, N.Y., and Pfc. George Pisk of Austin, Tex., will be turned over to Army representatives near the Bavarian border town of Waidhaus at noon (6 a.m. EST.)

Two days after their arrest near Eslarn, Germany, The Czechoslovak government charged in a formal note they were inside Czech territory on an espionage mission at the time. The note accused them of "photographing military installations and carrying out observation with field glasses."

Army headquarters rejected the charges, declaring the soldiers were on a legitimate mission and were picked up on West German territory.

Deluge Ends Drought, Poses Flood Threat

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 1 (AP)—Near cloudbursts in southeastern Oklahoma which until two days ago was one of the state's worst drought disaster areas, today posed a new threat—flooding of the region's three big rivers.

Torrential 48-hour rains have dumped more than a foot of water into one community and nearly a foot at another, bringing flood threats on the Boggy, Kiamichi and Little Rivers.

Sobol in Pushmataha County reported rainfall the last two days of 12.71 inches.

Hugo in central Choctaw County has measured 11.70 inches in the same period, 8½ inches of this coming within a few hours.

Soviet Atom Plan Raises Questions

Delegates Wonder How Far Russia Prepared To Go

These delegates and some neutral sources here said privately that Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky apparently took an affirmative step yesterday in putting his atomic proposals before the U.N. Assembly. But they said he ruined the effect by voicing the usual Soviet assault on the United States and others and by accusing Nationalist China of piracy in Formosa Strait.

Major Points Raised

In brief, here are some of the major points raised by delegates in conversations on the Vishinsky plan:

1. Vishinsky said that in the first stage, in six months or a year, states should reduce their armaments, armed forces and budgetary appropriations for military requirements to the extent of 50 per cent of agreed levels. What are the agreed levels? Does Vishinsky consider the level to be a flat, one-third cut of military establishments — so often proposed by Moscow and rejected by the West.

2. Vishinsky proposed a temporary international control commission under the Security Council with the right to require states to report measures to reduce armaments and armed forces. That goes back to an early American objection, first voiced by Bernard M. Baruch against subjecting any international atomic control organ to veto in the Security Council. Does Vishinsky consider the veto would apply to the control organization?

Inspection Issue

3. Vishinsky proposed that in the second and permanent stage of elimination of atomic and hydrogen weapons there be a standing international organ to supervise the implementation of the treaty prohibiting weapons of mass destruction. He did not say whether this permanent organization should have full powers of supervision, "including the power of inspection on a continuing basis to the extent necessary to insure implementation of the convention by all states."

Viet Nam Chief Moves To End Political Crisis

SAIGON, Indochina, Oct. 1 (AP)—Acting to end South Viet Nam's political crisis, Chief of State Bao Dai today cracked down on Premier Ngo Dinh Diem and ordered him to take rebellious Army Chief of Staff Gen. Nguyen Van Hinh into his Cabinet.

In emphatic cables from his vacation retreat on the French Riviera, the ex-emperor also directed the premier to bring two other generals, Bai Vien—a close friend of Bao Dai—and former Vice Premier Nguyen Van Xuan, into the government.

Diem Put On Spot

The chief of state's action appeared to put Diem squarely on the spot. A spokesman said the premier had not yet decided what to do. Informed sources said he may balk at accepting Gen. Hinh. If so, it seemed likely Bao Dai would ask for the premier's resignation.

The two generals and Xuan indicated they would accept Cabinet posts if the premier pledges to carry out reforms he has promised.

The crisis began building three weeks ago. At that time the premier, fearing Gen. Hinh and the Army were plotting a coup against him, ordered the Army chief to leave for France. Hinh refused and retired behind sandbags and barbed wire at his house in neary Cholon.

Xuan Stepped Out

Seeking to patch up the quarrel and appease the army, Premier Diem appointed Xuan, long a strong Viet Nam political figure, vice premier and defense minister only last Sept. 17. Stepping out after a week in office, Xuan called on Bao Dai to remove Diem in favor of a new leader.

Wreckage Of B24 That Vanished 11 Years Ago Found

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1 (AP) — A Liberator bomber with 12 men aboard lifted off the runway at California's Salinas Air Force Base on July 5, 1943 — and was never seen again.

Today the mystery of the missing B24 was solved.

DEDHAM, Mass., Oct. 1 (AP) — A six-foot, 18-year-old preparatory school student, who trapped himself by boasting of his "perfect crime," was sentenced to prison for life today for strangling his mother's dressmaker.

He said he did it "for kicks and thrills."

In Norfolk County Superior Court session that took less than two minutes, Ronald S. Blumenthal, son of a Brookline liquor dealer, pleaded guilty of second degree murder and was sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Frank J. Donahue.

The boy, a puzzling product of a good home and good schools, flushed as he entered his plea. It was the first time he had shown emotion in public since his arrest on July 29. His father, Barney, seated behind the prisoners cage, broke into tears. The boy's mother was not in court.

Dist. Atty. Myron Lane's willingness to accept the second degree plea saved young Blumenthal from trial and possible conviction of first degree murder, for which the mandatory penalty is execution unless the trial jury recommends clemency.

Under the mandatory life term for second degree murder, the boy may be paroled after 15 years, while still a young man.

Blumenthal killed Mrs. Ora Schonar who, at 52 was almost thrice his age. Her body was found in her Brookline apartment July 28. She had been slain late the previous afternoon — strangled manually, beaten repeatedly on the head with a rolling pin, and stabbed in the chest with a 6½-inch bread knife. A piece of cloth was wrapped around her neck like a noose, and her feet bound with a pair of khaki shorts.

The motive never was disclosed.

Compromise On Arms Control Is Too Weak, Mendes-France Says

LONDON, Oct. 1 (AP)—With a surprise veto tonight France blocked a compromise plan to free and rearm West Germany within the Western defense alliance. The action plunged the nine-power conference on Western European unity into an unexpected crisis.

A British Foreign Office spokesman immediately warned that the Churchill government will withdraw its 48-hour-old offer to maintain troops on the European continent if the conference breaks down.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has already warned the United States might have to withdraw its troops from Europe unless the talks succeed. He made no move to change his plans for going home tomorrow night, and an American source expressed confidence the new snags would be overcome.

French Move Unexpected

A highly placed conference source said that although the new development was serious, the conference "cannot be written off at this point." He said calm counsel may prevail overnight.

After the conference had been reported moving rapidly toward success, France suddenly rejected a compromise plan to bring West Germany within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and an enlarged seven-nation Brussels conference alliance.

Yesterday, French Premier Pierre Mendes-France was reported to have accepted the compromise—advanced by Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak—to give NATO and the enlarged Brussels grouping joint controls aimed at preventing any runaway German rearmament.

French Plan Cumbersome

Today, Mendes-France told the conference the Spaak plan did not go far enough in rigidly controlling every aspect of the manufacture and distribution of arms.

Instead he demanded fuller consideration of his own program, which called for controls to rest mainly in the hands of a new European Armaments Authority.

Other delegates had turned down the French Premier's plan as too cumbersome and too difficult to operate. Thousands of persons would have to be employed within the executive agency, they said. They argued that its effect would be to slow down the pace of European industry.

Spaak's compromise proposal was designed to simplify and streamline the process of controlling arms production and distribution.

LAUREL SPRINGS, N.C., Oct. 1 (AP)—Former Rep. Robert L. Doughton, who wrote the tax bills for the New Deal and the Fair Deal and gave the country its first social security law, died at his home here last night.

Death came peacefully for the 90-year-old Democratic lawmaker who took his congressional seat from a Republican in 1910 and kept it 42 years. A member of his family, going into his room to awaken him early today, found him dead in his bed.

As chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Doughton was given credit for writing more tax bills than any other man in United States history. Franklin D. Roosevelt had just become President when Doughton took over the committee chairmanship in 1933. It fell his duty to be the financial architect for the staggering sums needed for economic recovery, for World War II and for postwar rehabilitation throughout the world.

In 1952, after 42 years in the House, the veteran "Muley Bob"—as his friends affectionately knew him—announced he was retiring to the quiet of his two-story frame home here amid North Carolina's Blue Ridge Mountains.

His doctors had ordered him to "take it easier."

But he still found time for Democratic party affairs, often showing up to speak for a candidate. He served as the North Carolina party's national committeeman from his retirement until early this year when his health forced him to step down.

Possible Prosecution Facing Power Firm

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—Sen. Langer (R-ND) said today he is forwarding to the Justice Department, for possible criminal prosecution, the transcript of testimony involving a principal company in the Dixon-Yates power group.

Langer is chairman of a Senate antimonopoly subcommittee which has heard testimony about the operations of Middle South Utilities Inc. of New York, which Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) says might involve violations of antimonopoly laws.

Middle South and the Southern Co. form the Dixon-Yates group which is now negotiating with the Atomic Energy Commission to build a 107-million-dollar power plant at West Memphis, Ark. It would furnish power to the Tennessee Valley Authority to replace TVA electricity switched to the Paducah, Ky. atomic intallations.

Kefauver, a subcommittee member, put in the record a letter from the Federal Power Commission saying it will take immediate steps to examine the books and records of the Mississippi Power & Light Co., a Middle South subsidiary.

Shortly afterwards Jerome K. Kuykendall, FPC chairman, announced the inquiry already was under way at Jackson, Miss. He said it was being supervised by Charles W. Smith, chief of the commission's Bureau of Accounts, Finances and Rates.

J. D. Stietenroth, ousted secretary-treasurer of the Mississippi company, testified that the firm is tightly controlled by Middle South and, under this pressure, followed practices which he said he thought violated the spirit of the Holding Company Act of 1935. This act is designed to prevent monopolistic control of utility subsidiaries by their parent companies.

The FPC also notified Kefauver that it would investigate Stietenroth's charges that separate books are kept in New York and Jackson, Miss., on financial affairs of the Mississippi company.

McKeldin Visits U. Of Md., Heart Of "Byrd-Land"

[By The Associated Press]

Gov. McKeldin sallied into the heart of Byrd-land yesterday on his campaign tour of Prince Georges County while H. C. Byrd took his Democratic caravan to his native Somerset County.

The Republican governor paused in his hand-shaking travels to visit the University of Maryland campus which Byrd abandoned for politics after 18 years as president of that institution.

Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, who succeeded Byrd as president, was in California for the Maryland - U. C. L. A football game and, in his absence, the governor was greeted by Dr. Harold S. Cotterman, dean of the faculty.

Dr. Cotterman led the governor and his running mate, Atty. Gen. Edward D. E. Rollins to a spot overlooking the campus site where university officials hope to build a new library.

They requested nearly three-million dollars for the project, but McKeldin and the State Planning Commission included only $2,300,000 for it in their draft of the State's capital improvements program.

Byrd, who built up a large Prince Georges following during his more than 50 years of association with the University as student, football coach and faculty member, began his Somerset County tour in Crisfield.

McKeldin Commends Two State Troopers

SALISBURY, Oct. 1 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin has commended two Maryland State Police officers for the way they handled a fire set by a prisoner in Wicomico County jail.

Trooper First Class Robert W. Burkhardt and Trooper R. E. Jones were told their initiative was "the kind the public expects from members of the State Police."

The commendations followed a State Police merit board review.

The two officers discovered a fire in the jail the night of July 9. It had been set by a prisoner who thought he could gain his freedom in the resulting confusion.

Firemen said their work probably averted a serious fire. The troopers fought the blaze and kept it controlled until firemen arrived.

Green Sedan Sought In Hit-Run Accident

BALTIMORE, Oct. 1 (AP) — A search was on today for a green sedan believed to have been in a hit-run accident in which a Virginia man was killed.

Baltimore County police said after being hit by one car last night the man was struck by another and dragged 75 feet. Police said they were told the first car had Pennsylvania plates.

Snake Story Sets Off New Search For Python Pete

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 1 (AP)—A Dallas man who said he saw a snake as big as a stovepipe swimming in the Trinity River near Fort Worth today touched off another search for Python Pete.

Zoo officials and officers hurried to the scene in the hope of finding the 18-foot python that disappeared from the zoo two weeks ago.

David W. Smith, 59, said he saw the snake from a highway bridge.

"I was standing on the bridge when I spotted this big brown snake 15 or 20 feet long and as big as a stove pipe swimming toward a bend in the river," said Smith.

"I watched him until he rounded the bend which was about 500 feet away."

Beard Wins Big Point At Trial

BALTIMORE, Oct. 1 (AP)—Samuel Beard, big-time Washington gambler, won a big point today when an internal revenue agent testified he could not say for sure that deposits in Beard's bank accounts represented income.

Beard is on trial on charges he evaded $1,634,000 in Federal income taxes for 1944, 1946 and 1947.

Samuel W. Ford, the government's main witness, was on the stand again today, the fifth day of the trial, and this time he was under hammering cross-examination by Thomas Kenney, Baltimore attorney representing Beard.

Ford had presented a tabulation showing thousands of dollars flowing into Beard's Washington bank account from all over the country.

Kenney asked him:

"When a deposit could not be traced, it was considered income, was it not?"

"Not entirely," Ford replied.

"How can you tell then which deposits represented income?"

"By the deposit slips."

Kenney gave Ford a big bundle of deposit slips to examine. He was asked to look at the first two, dated in 1944. Ford said he could not identify the amounts listed on them as income.

Kenney shot at him:

"The money deposited in the checking account you cannot possibly know is income, can you?"

"No, sir," Ford replied.

Tavern-Keeper Given 18 Years For Slaying Girl

SALISBURY, Oct. 1 (AP)—A Fruitland tavern-keeper, Stanford Lewis (Red) Banks, was given an 18-year penitentiary term today for the slaying of his girl friend.

Banks, 47, married and the father of two children, shot to death Iris Rebecca Pope, 31, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Harry Gray, last May 26.

Mrs. Gray testified in Banks' trial last Friday that the shooting occurred because Miss Pope tried to sever relations with Banks.

Banks pleaded self defense. He said Miss Pope came at him with a knife after he refused to divorce his wife.

Youth Risks His Life To Save Negro Baby

FREDERICK, Oct. 1 (AP) — A Maryland state trooper today cited a 16-year-old Frederick County youth for "unusual bravery at the risk of his own life" in the rescue of a two-year-old Negro baby.

Trooper R. T. Storer said Lamb rushed to the frame house when he heard an explosion touched off when the baby's mother, 19-year-old Mrs. Charles Weedon, tried to fire a coal stove with a can of kerosene.

Storer said Lamb found Mrs. Weedon in flames on the ground outside the kitchen door. He burned his hands putting out the flames, then crawled into the burning house.

He found the baby and carried her to safety seconds before the walls collapsed. The mother died yesterday in Frederick Memorial Hospital.

Russia Reported Building H-Bomb Plant In Siberia

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP)—The Soviet Union, in all probability, is building a huge plant for hydrogen bomb production in the remote reaches of Siberia, far away as possible from the reach of long-range bombers, reports an American correspondent just back from Moscow.

In a series of articles to end tomorrow in the New York Times, Harrison E. Salisbury explains that some fairly solid conclusions can be reached by deduction, even though Moscow's most guarded secrets relate to nuclear energy.

The Soviet government in 1952 announced plans to tap the Angara River, flowing into Siberia's Lake Baikal, as a mighty hydroelectric source. It is thousands of miles from industrial centers, and the correspondent deduced that only a nuclear plant could use power in such vast quantities.

Salisbury travelled extensively in the Soviet Union during his five year assignment there. He reports it is probable there are A-bomb works in the Novosibirsk region of western Siberia and in the industrial Urals area. It is possible Russia's first nuclear plant was in the Moscow area with big research centers within a 50-mile radius of the capital. In addition, Salisbury says, Russia's testing area likely is in a vast desert area north and west of the Aral Sea and east of the Caspian Sea.

As for Soviet aircraft, Salisbury found evidence that Soviet jet strength is a major military factor, that in general Soviet aviation has made great strides since World War II. indicating an ability to equal and sometimes outdo American techniques.

On the surface, civilian defense appears non-existent. But the framework for it exists in various organizations such as DOSAAF, a paramilitary organization enrolling millions of civilians for training in wartime techniques, and in that tight organization of Russian life in the cities. In Moscow, the addition of a new "radius" to the Moscow subway appears to the correspondent to have been in reality the construction of the world's largest and safest air raid shelter which, with existing subway links, could shelter many of Moscow's 6 million people.

Warmer October Than Usual Seen By Weatherman

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—The Weather Bureau anticipates that October will be a little warmer than usual in the South and East, but cooler than average in the North and West.

It issued this outlook today:

"The Weather Bureau's 30-day outlook for October calls for temperatures to average above seasonal normals over southern and eastern portions of the nation with greatest departures in the Southeast. On the other hand below normal temperatures are expected to prevail over western and northern areas with greatest departures in the Northern Plains.

"Precipitation amounts are predicted to exceed normal over most of the area between the Continental Divide and the Appalachians. Sub-normal rainfall is indicated in the Far West and in the South Atlantic States. Otherwise near normal amounts are indicated."

Weeks Minimizes Rift With Mitchell

At a press conference in Washington yesterday, Mitchell said he would be "disturbed if Commerce Department opinions on labor relations matters gained ascendency" in the Eisenhower administration.

Weeks was asked about this by newsmen but refrained from trading criticism with Mitchell.

Navy Man Gets Life In Slaying

LEONARDTOWN, Oct. 1 (AP) — William E. Rudd, 37-year-old Navy petty officer, was convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to life imprisonment today for the April 3 hammer slaying of a 22-year-old Navy wife in nearby Lexington Park.

Circuit Judge John B. Gray Jr. announced the sentence immediately after the jury returned its verdict late today. The panel deliberated 30 minutes.

Rudd had pleaded innocent by reason of insanity in the killing of Mrs. Iona Josephine Davis. Seaman James E. Davis, husband of the slain woman, and Rudd both are stationed at Patuxent River Naval Air Station.

Testimony at the one-day trial brought out that Rudd, from Flagstaff, Ariz., and others attended a party at the Davis apartment April 2. The next morning, witnesses said, Rudd returned to the apartment while Davis ,was on duty and was admitted by Mrs. Davis, a five-foot, 94-pound woman. Davis is from Akron, Ohio.

A confession Rudd allegedly made to Maryland police April 5—the day he gave himself up to Washington authorities after a drinking bout—was part of the prosecution's case. In it, Rudd admitted beating Mrs. Davis to death.

The jury recommended that Rudd shouldn't be given the death penalty, which is possible for first-degree murder.

McKeldin Visits U. Of Md., Heart Of "Byrd-Land"

[By The Associated Press]

Gov. McKeldin sallied into the heart of Byrd-land yesterday on his campaign tour of Prince Georges County while H. C. Byrd took his Democratic caravan to his native Somerset County.

The Republican governor paused in his hand-shaking travels to visit the University of Maryland campus which Byrd abandoned for politics after 18 years as president of that institution.

Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, who succeeded Byrd as president, was in California for the Maryland - U. C. L. A football game and, in his absence, the governor was greeted by Dr. Harold S. Cotterman, dean of the faculty.

Dr. Cotterman led the governor and his running mate, Atty. Gen. Edward D. E. Rollins to a spot overlooking the campus site where university officials hope to build a new library.

They requested nearly three-million dollars for the project, but McKeldin and the State Planning Commission included only $2,300,000 for it in their draft of the State's capital improvements program.

Byrd, who built up a large Prince Georges following during his more than 50 years of association with the University as student, football coach and faculty member, began his Somerset County tour in Crisfield.

McKeldin Commends Two State Troopers

SALISBURY, Oct. 1 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin has commended two Maryland State Police officers for the way they handled a fire set by a prisoner in Wicomico County jail.

Trooper First Class Robert W. Burkhardt and Trooper R. E. Jones were told their initiative was "the kind the public expects from members of the State Police."

The commendations followed a State Police merit board review. The two officers discovered a fire in the jail the night of July 9. It had been set by a prisoner who thought he could gain his freedom in the resulting confusion.

Firemen said their work probably averted a serious fire. The troopers fought the blaze and kept it controlled until firemen arrived.

Green Sedan Sought In Hit-Run Accident

BALTIMORE, Oct. 1 (AP) — A search was on today for a green sedan believed to have been in a hit-run accident in which a Virginia man was killed.

Baltimore County police said after being hit by one car last night the man was struck by another and dragged 75 feet. Police said they were told the first car had Pennsylvania plates.

Snake Story Sets Off New Search For Python Pete

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 1 (AP)—A Dallas man who said he saw a snake as big as a stovepipe swimming in the Trinity River near Fort Worth today touched off another search for Python Pete.

Zoo officials and officers hurried to the scene in the hope of finding the 18-foot python that disappeared from the zoo two weeks ago.

David W. Smith, 59, said he saw the snake from a highway bridge.

"I was standing on the bridge when I spotted this big brown snake 15 or 20 feet long and as big as a stove pipe swimming toward a bend in the river," said Smith.

"I watched him until he rounded the bend which was about 500 feet away."

Beard Wins Big Point At Trial

BALTIMORE, Oct. 1 (AP)—Samuel Beard, big-time Washington gambler, won a big point today when an internal revenue agent testified he could not say for sure that deposits in Beard's bank accounts represented income.

Beard is on trial on charges he evaded $1,634,000 in Federal income taxes for 1944, 1946 and 1947.

Samuel W. Ford, the government's main witness, was on the stand again today, the fifth day of the trial, and this time he was under hammering cross-examination by Thomas Kenney, Baltimore attorney representing Beard.

Ford had presented a tabulation showing thousands of dollars flowing into Beard's Washington bank account from all over the country.

Kenney asked him:

"When a deposit could not be traced, it was considered income, was it not?"

"Not entirely," Ford replied.

"How can you tell then which deposits represented income?"

"By the deposit slips."

Kenney gave Ford a big bundle of deposit slips to examine. He was asked to look at the first two, dated in 1944. Ford said he could not identify the amounts listed on them as income.

Kenney shot at him:

"The money deposited in the checking account you cannot possibly know is income, can you?"

"No, sir," Ford replied.

Tavern-Keeper Given 18 Years For Slaying Girl

SALISBURY, Oct. 1 (AP)—A Fruitland tavern-keeper, Stanford Lewis (Red) Banks, was given an 18-year penitentiary term today for the slaying of his girl friend.

Banks, 47, married and the father of two children, shot to death Iris Rebecca Pope, 31, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Harry Gray, last May 26.

Mrs. Gray testified in Banks' trial last Friday that the shooting occurred because Miss Pope tried to sever relations with Banks.

Banks pleaded self defense. He said Miss Pope came at him with a knife after he refused to divorce his wife.

Youth Risks His Life To Save Negro Baby

FREDERICK, Oct. 1 (AP) — A Maryland state trooper today cited a 16-year-old Frederick County youth for "unusual bravery at the risk of his own life" in the rescue of a two-year-old Negro baby.

Millard Buckey Lamb entered a burning house a nearby Doubs to save the infant's life.

Trooper R. T. Storer said Lamb rushed to the frame house when he heard an explosion touched off when the baby's mother, 19-year-old Mrs. Charles Weedon, tried to fire a coal stove with a can of kerosene.

Storer said Lamb found Mrs. Weedon in flames on the ground outside the kitchen door. He burned his hands putting out the flames, then crawled into the burning house.

He found the baby and carried her to safety seconds before the walls collapsed. The mother died yesterday in Frederick Memorial Hospital.

Russia Reported Building H-Bomb Plant In Siberia

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP)—The Soviet Union, in all probability, is building a huge plant for hydrogen bomb production in the remote reaches of Siberia, far away as possible from the reach of long-range bombers, reports an American correspondent just back from Moscow.

In a series of articles to end tomorrow in the New York Times, Harrison E. Salisbury explains that some fairly solid conclusions can be reached by deduction, even though Moscow's most guarded secrets relate to nuclear energy.

The Soviet government in 1952 announced plans to tap the Angara River, flowing into Siberia's Lake Baikal, as a mighty hydroelectric source. It is thousands of miles from industrial centers, and the correspondent deduced that only a nuclear plant could use power in such vast quantities.

Salisbury travelled extensively in the Soviet Union during his five year assignment there. He reports it is probable there are A-bomb works in the Novosibirsk region of western Siberia and in the industrial Urals area. It is possible Russia's first nuclear plant was in the Moscow area with big research centers within a 50-mile radius of the capital. In addition, Salisbury says, Russia's testing area likely is in a vast desert area north and west of the Aral Sea and east of the Caspian Sea.

As for Soviet aircraft, Salisbury found evidence that Soviet jet strength is a major military factor, that in general Soviet aviation has made great strides since World War II, indicating an ability to equal and sometimes outdo American techniques.

On the surface, civilian defense appears non-existent. But the framework for it exists in various organizations such as DOSAAF, a paramilitary organization enrolling millions of civilians for training in wartime techniques, and in that tight organization of Russian life in the cities. In Moscow, the addition of a new "radius" to the Moscow subway appears to the correspondent to have been in reality the construction of the world's largest and safest air raid shelter which, with existing subway links, could shelter many of Moscow's 6 million people.

Man And Wife Die As Fire Levels Home

DEERFIELD, Mass., Oct. 1 (AP)—An unemployed auto repair man and his wife died today in a fire which leveled their home.

Shipyard Is Keelless

BALTIMORE, Oct. 1 (AP)—The Bethlehem-Sparrows Point Shipyard, foremost producer of ships in 1953, was keelless today for the first time since World War II ended.

Warmer October Than Usual Seen By Weatherman

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—The Weather Bureau anticipates that October will be a little warmer than usual in the South and East, but cooler than average in the North and West.

It issued this outlook today:

"The Weather Bureau's 30-day outlook for October calls for temperatures to average above seasonal normals over southern and eastern portions of the nation with greatest departures in the Southeast. On the other hand below normal temperatures are expected to prevail over western and northern areas with greatest departures in the Northern Plains.

"Precipitation amounts are predicted to exceed normal over most of the area between the Continental Divide and the Appalachians. Sub-normal rainfall is indicated in the Far West and in the South Atlantic States. Otherwise near normal amounts are indicated."

Weeks Minimizes Rift With Mitchell

At a press conference in Washington yesterday, Mitchell said he would be "disturbed if Commerce Department opinions on labor relations matters gained ascendency" in the Eisenhower administration.

Weeks was asked about this by newsmen but refrained from trading criticism with Mitchell.

Navy Man Gets Life In Slaying

LEONARDTOWN, Oct. 1 (AP) — William E. Rudd, 37-year-old Navy petty officer, was convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to life imprisonment today for the April 3 hammer slaying of a 22-year-old Navy wife in nearby Lexington Park.

Circuit Judge John B. Gray Jr. announced the sentence immediately after the jury returned its verdict late today. The panel deliberated 30 minutes.

Rudd had pleaded innocent by reason of insanity in the killing of Mrs. Iona Josephine Davis. Seaman James E. Davis, husband of the slain woman, and Rudd both are stationed at Patuxent River Naval Air Station.

Testimony at the one-day trial brought out that Rudd, from Flagstaff, Ariz., and others attended a party at the Davis apartment April 2. The next morning, witnesses said, Rudd returned to the apartment while Davis was on duty and was admitted by Mrs. Davis, a five-foot, 94-pound woman. Davis is from Akron, Ohio.

A confession Rudd allegedly made to Maryland police April 5 —the day he gave himself up to Washington authorities after a drinking bout—was part of the prosecution's case. In it, Rudd admitted beating Mrs. Davis to death.

The jury recommended that Rudd shouldn't be given the death penalty, which is possible for first-degree murder.

WIFE PRESERVERS

When you wash an acetate taffeta petticoat, avoid wringing and squeezing which "craze" the surface of any crisp fabric. Just wash the article in soapsuds and rinses, then hang it to drip dry. By this method there is no danger of setting in fine creases which may disfigure a stiff fabric permanently.

Shirley Fuller Becomes Bride Of Lt. John Williams

Miss Shirley Fuller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Fuller, 420 Beall Street, became the bride of Lt. John M. Williams, son of Dr. and Mrs. William F. Williams, 750 Washington Street, yesterday.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at 10:30 a. m. in Emmanuel Episcopal Church, with Rev. H. M. Richardson officiating. The altar was decorated with bouquets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums, candelabra of lighted tapers and palms.

Miss Beverly Smith was the bride's maid of honor and only attendant, while William Williams served as his brother's best man.

A program of nuptial music and the traditional wedding march from the opera Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's recessional were played by Mrs. Kenneth Wolfe, who also accompanied Brandon Fuller singing "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of Chantilly lace and net over slipper satin. It was fashioned with a fitted bodice, buttoned down the back, long sleeves tapering to a point on the hand, high neckline and full ballerina-length skirt. Her headdress was a lace over satin pill box with French illusion, shoulder-length veil. Completing her costume, she carried a white orchid and ivy with satin streamers.

Her maid of honor wore a peacock-colored lace over taffeta gown. It also had long sleeves and full ballerina-length skirt. With it she had a lace band with bow in the back and face veil. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Mrs. Fuller chose a black crepe gown for her daughter's wedding. It has beaded baby blue satin around the throat and on the standup collar of the long-sleeved matching jacket. With it she wore black hat and accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Williams selected a green suit for the wedding and had matching accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany High School and is employed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Allegany High School and of Western Maryland Collee, Westminster. For the past one and one half years he has been serving in the United States Air Force, and recently has been assigned to Japan.

Mr. and Mrs. Fuller entertained the immediate families at a wedding breakfast following the ceremony. It was held at Ali Ghan Country Club. White flowers and a three-tiered wedding cake, with miniature bride and bridegroom carried out the bridal motif.

For their wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the bride wore a gray worsted suit with black accessories, a red hat and her orchid corsage. She expects to join her husband in Japan after the first of the year.

Sub-League Has Program, Election

Mrs. H. C. Utterback was re-elected president of the Allegany County Sub-League of the Woman's League of Gettysburg College at the first fall meeting earlier in the week at St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Committee chairmen and two delegates to attend the League convention November 4 and 5 will be appointed and the date of the general meeting in December will be selected at the board meeting October 12 at St. Paul's Sunday school room.

The installation was conducted by Mrs. Frederick Eckert, past president of the General League. During the short business session routine reports were given and several amendments to the League constitution were made.

Miss Jeanette Bonig was the guest speaker and told of her European trip, which included visits to London and the surrounding territory, and to Paris, Nuremburg, East Berlin and the Isle of Capri. She also told of arriving back in the states in Hurricane Carol. Figurines, a Swiss clock and carved Oberamergau figures which Miss Bonig collected were displayed.

For a musical program Mrs. Frances Taylor and Miss Virginia Beall sang and Donald Paupe played the flute with a recording of three other instruments, forming a quartet.

Mrs. Robert Mann was chairman of the Nominating committee, which included Mrs. John Stark, Mrs. Earl Blaugh, Frostburg; Mrs. Richard Fey and Mrs. Harold Fier.

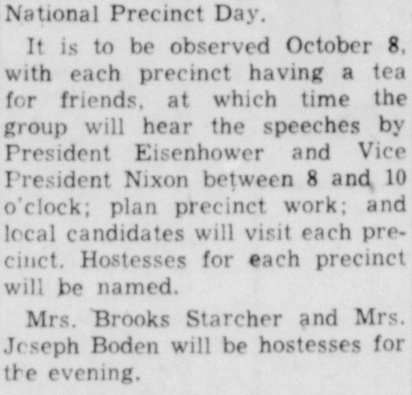
WIFE PRESERVERS



When you wash an acetate taffeta petticoat, avoid wringing and squeezing which "craze" the surface of any crisp fabric. Just wash the article in soapsuds and rinses, then hang it to drip dry. By this method there is no danger of setting in fine creases which may disfigure a stiff fabric permanently.

Miss Shirley Fuller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Fuller, 420 Beall Street, became the bride of Lt. John M. Williams, son of Dr. and Mrs. William F. Williams, 750 Washington Street, yesterday.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized at 10:30 a. m. in Emmanuel Episcopal Church, with Rev. H. M. Richardson officiating. The altar was decorated with bouquets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums, candelabra of lighted tapers and palms.

Miss Beverly Smith was the bride's maid of honor and only attendant, while William Williams served as his brother's best man.

A program of nuptial music and the traditional wedding march from the opera Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's recessional were played by Mrs. Kenneth Wolfe, who also accompanied Brandon Fuller singing "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of Chantilly lace and net over slipper satin. It was fashioned with a fitted bodice, buttoned down the back, long sleeves tapering to a point on the hand, high neckline and full ballerina-length skirt. Her headdress was a lace over satin pill box with French illusion, shoulder-length veil. Completing her costume, she carried a white orchid and ivy with satin streamers.

With it she wore black hat and accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Williams selected a green suit for the wedding and had matching accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany High School and is employed by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Allegany High School and of Western Maryland Collee, Westminster. For the past one and one half years he has been serving in the United States Air Force, and recently has been assigned to Japan.

For their wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the bride wore a gray worsted suit with black accessories, a red hat and her orchid corsage. She expects to join her husband in Japan after the first of the year.

The installation was conducted by Mrs. Frederick Eckert, past president of the General League. During the short business session routine reports were given and several amendments to the League constitution were made.

Miss Jeanette Bonig was the guest speaker and told of her European trip, which included visits to London and the surrounding territory, and to Paris, Nuremburg, East Berlin and the Isle of Capri. She also told of arriving back in the states in Hurricane Carol. Figurines, a Swiss clock and carved Oberamergau figures which Miss Bonig collected were displayed.

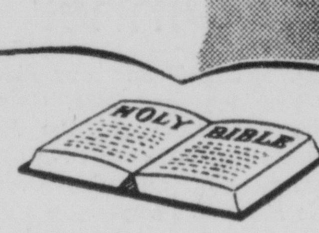
ALL OVER THE WORLD

Glance at an atlas or give your globe a spin. It's a vast world, encompassing continents, oceans, mountains, deserts and valleys. Its inhabitants number in the billions, and they in turn are divided into many nations, each with varied tongues, creeds, and religions.

But here at last we have struck upon a common denominator — religion. For all peoples in all times have recognized a superior power — their creator.

On World Wide Communion Day, Christians all over the world unite in their churches to partake of the Lord's Supper, one of the holiest rituals of the Church. Together, in His house, their prayers attain a new significance. Their voices blend into one universal voice, from which stems new power and meaning.

Go to your church on World Wide Communion Day. You will be in the fellowship of millions of worshippers, receiving with them new hope for peace of mind and soul—and peace for the world.



THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

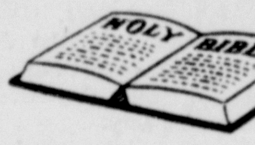
ALL OVER THE WORLD

Glance at an atlas or give your globe a spin. It's a vast world, encompassing continents, oceans, mountains, deserts and valleys. Its inhabitants number in the billions, and they in turn are divided into many nations, each with varied tongues, creeds, and religions.

But here at last we have struck upon a common denominator — religion. For all peoples in all times have recognized a superior power — their creator.

On World Wide Communion Day, Christians all over the world unite in their churches to partake of the Lord's Supper, one of the holiest rituals of the Church. Together, in His house, their prayers attain a new significance. Their voices blend into one universal voice, from which stems new power and meaning.

Go to your church on World Wide Communion Day. You will be in the fellowship of millions of worshippers, receiving with them new hope for peace of mind and soul—and peace for the world.



THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Bandits Flee With Cash, Merchandise

PETERSBURG — A three-state alarm is out for three young men who held up the proprietor of a general store and gas station at Cabins, six miles south of here on Route 28.

Cpl. D. E. Adams, of the West Virginia State Police detachment at Petersburg, said the three men, all in their early 20's, drove up to the store and gas station about 7 p. m. The proprietor, George Adam Reiss, came out and filled their tank with gas and checked the oil. The men followed him into the store and when Reiss turned around he saw that he was covered with a gun.

Reiss's wife was in the storeroom at the time of the armed holdup. The man and his wife differed as to the type of weapon the men wielded, she said it was a sawed-off shotgun while Reiss thought it had been a 30-30 caliber rifle.

After taking $215 in cash, the men grabbed two cartons of cigarettes, five jack knives, and a pair of blue dungarees. The trio of armed robbers then backed out of the store and sped away in their 1940 or 1941 steel-gray Plymouth car. The car had a new paint job. It is thought the car bore West Virginia license plates and the first two numbers were 67, according to Reiss.

Just as the men pulled out of the gas station, another car driven by Creed Sions, principal of the grade school at Petersburg, pulled into the station. He did not know that the place had been the victim of an armed robbery until Reiss came out and shouted the alarm. Sions gave chase in his car but the bandits were able to outdistance him.

Reiss told Cpl. Adams that the men were strangers to the Grant County area and that he remembered one of them had driven to the gas station early yesterday morning and purchased $1 worth of gasoline. The officer believes that this member of the trio was "casing the joint," as the criminal element describes it.

Two of the young men were tall while the other was rather short. All wore blue dungarees and one had on a white T-shirt and another a light jacket. Reiss could not give a description of the clothing worn by the third man. All were bareheaded.

The men fled south on Route 28 toward Mouth of Seneca. Road blocks were set up at Elkins and to the south but today at noon no trace of the brazen bandits had been found. Cpl. Adams said the holdup men made no threats against either Reiss or his wife and the store owner said they went about their crime in a cool and detached manner.

Bandits Flee With Cash, Merchandise

PETERSBURG — A three-state alarm is out for three young men who held up the proprietor of a general store and gas station at Cabins, six miles south of here on Route 28.

Cpl. D. E. Adams, of the West Virginia State Police detachment at Petersburg, said the three men, all in their early 20's, drove up to the store and gas station about 7 p. m. The proprietor, George Adam Reiss, came out and filled their tank with gas and checked the oil. The men followed him into the store and when Reiss turned around he saw that he was covered with a gun.

Reiss's wife was in the storeroom at the time of the armed holdup. The man and his wife differed as to the type of weapon the men wielded, she said it was a sawed-off shotgun while Reiss thought it had been a 30-30 caliber rifle.

After taking $215 in cash, the men grabbed two cartons of cigarettes, five jack knives, and a pair of blue dungarees. The trio of armed robbers then backed out of the store and sped away in their 1940 or 1941 steel-gray Plymouth car. The car had a new paint job. It is thought the car bore West Virginia license plates and the first two numbers were 67, according to Reiss.

Just as the men pulled out of the gas station, another car driven by Creed Sions, principal of the grade school at Petersburg, pulled into the station. He did not know that the place had been the victim of an armed robbery until Reiss came out and shouted the alarm. Sions gave chase in his car but the bandits were able to outdistance him.

Reiss told Cpl. Adams that the men were strangers to the Grant County area and that he remembered one of them had driven to the gas station early yesterday morning and purchased $1 worth of gasoline. The officer believes that this member of the trio was "casing the joint," as the criminal element describes it.

Two of the young men were tall while the other was rather short. All wore blue dungarees and one had on a white T-shirt and another a light jacket. Reiss could not give a description of the clothing worn by the third man. All were bareheaded.

The men fled south on Route 28 toward Mouth of Seneca. Road blocks were set up at Elkins and to the south but today at noon no trace of the brazen bandits had been found. Cpl. Adams said the holdup men made no threats against either Reiss or his wife and the store owner said they went about their crime in a cool and detached manner.

ODM To Allow New Writeoffs

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—All cities with "substantial" unemployment became eligible today for special federal help in obtaining new defense industries.

Companies establishing defense plants in any of the 51 major cities and 94 smaller communities with substantial labor surpluses will be entitled to additional federal tax benefits, the Office of Defense Mobilization announced.

Previously the special help was restricted only to areas of "chronic" labor surplus, as designated by an interagency committee. There were 68 of these, including 20 major job centers.

The list of cities with "substantial" unemployment—meaning 6 per cent or more of the labor—is revised bimonthly by the Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security. Cities which might be added to the list in future tabulations will become eligible for the tax preference, ODM said.

The tax benefits are offered as an inducement to the expansion of defense-essential industries. ODM permits a company to write off a percentage of the cost of construction in five years, in depreciation for federal tax purposes.

control of Capitol Hill over to the opposition. If this is accomplished, he forecast, the Democrats will hold only a "paper leadership," but they will be able to prevent "much of President Eisenhower's progressive program" from being carried out.

Some of the areas in which the Republicans intend to work in the next session, Hyde said, include—the budget, which must be balanced; taxes, which must be further curtailed to put this country in a sound economic condition for the future; revisions in the Taft-Hartley Labor Act; broader world trade for the benefit of consumers and business; statehood for Hawaii; reinsurance health program; and "a fair pay increase" for Federal and Postal employes; locally, a bill to provide adequate transportation facilities for residents in the Washington Metropolitan area.

Hyde pointed out that the Democratic leadership under the "boss rule" system, is out of step with the intelligent Democratic voter, as evidenced in the last elections. At that time, he pointed out, thousands of registered Democratic voters cast their ballots for Republicans, and he predicted that it will happen again this November.

The reason for the shift, he said, is easily seen. While the Republicans are offering a sound, constructive program, the Democratic leadership is concerned only with "distortions and attacks on the opposition," Hyde declared.

They have not, he asserted, "offered the voters a single concrete proposal for which they can, in conscience, cast their ballots."

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners received six bids yesterday on two painting projects.

Painting of the interior of the Union Street County Building and the County Welfare Building on Cumberland Street was called for in the contract. After opening the bids the board withheld a decision until next Tuesday pending tabulation of the bids.

Bids on the Union Street County Building were as follows: C. A. Liller and G. W. Hardin, $5,962; George B. Steele, $4,995; Boore and Ruppert, $2,988.38; Whitman and Cessna, $6,247; Clyde S. Kuhns, $4,708.62 and J. B. Dennison, $4,386.

Bids on the County Welfare Building were as follows: Liller and Hardin, $4,183; Steele, $4,521; Boore and Ruppert, $2,155.96; Whitman and Cessna, $3,738; Clyde S. Kuhns, $3,363 and Dennison, $3,340.

The six bidders also offered a total bid for both projects as follows: Liller and Hardin, $10,145; Steele, $9,466; Boore and Ruppert, $5,144.34; Whitman and Cessna, $10,185; Kuhns, $8,021 and Dennison, $7,500.

The board has awarded a contract to the George Construction Company to reroof the Sylvan Retreat building on county farm property for $5,830. The George firm was low bidder to provide a roof of asbestos shingles.

A bid of Alex Schute to provide an asphalt shingle roof for $4,282.60 was low for this type roof.

Congressman Hyde Deserves Support

With the reputation in the eyes of one of America's ablest legislators as one of the best freshman congressmen he has ever seen, DeWitt S. Hyde is now seeking his second term in the House of Representatives from Maryland's Sixth District.

The bouquet for Congressman Hyde was handed to him by none less than the much respected and capable Speaker of the House Joseph W. Martin.

Mr. Martin in the two years Mr. Hyde has been in the House has had the opportunity to observe his abilities at close hand and we daresay Mr. Hyde has earned the accolade.

For one thing, Mr. Hyde is a Republican as is the administration and he has supported President Eisenhower in the latter's efforts to return America's government to the people.

Mr. Eisenhower believes in private enterprise by which America became the great nation that it is, and not in the socialistic ideas that virtually have become the symbol of the Democratic party.

By his support of President Eisenhower's program, DeWitt Hyde, who got his legislative training in Maryland's legislature, has shown that he, too, believes in the ideals that brought America along the road of success from its humble beginnings.

President Eisenhower's administration has completed two great years of achievement even though the Republican majority in both houses of Congress was a narrow one.

If his program is to be continued and achieved, he must have the help that only a predominantly Republican Congress will give him. There must be cooperation between the legislative and executive branches of our government but this cooperation will hardly be forthcoming if the Congress is predominantly Democratic when it is organized after the election.

To assure continued good government, to accomplish the program of President Eisenhower and to take advantage of the abilities of an experienced legislator, one with a still brighter future ahead of him, DeWitt S. Hyde should be re-elected to Congress on November 2.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Monolithic Party

Before Stalin, the international Communist party included many facets of opinion. There were many varieties of views and many differences as to methods of winning the world to communism. The party congresses were really often meetings at which the debate was tense and exciting. Also, the Comintern was not bound to Russia which was only one country in it. In fact there were times when the German Communist party was as important as the Russian party and the hope of the Bolsheviks was that Germany would stage the major Marxist Revolution.

Stalin changed all that. He destroyed all dissent, all differences of opinion. He had those who opposed him killed or exiled. He reduced the Comintern from an international organization to a branch of the Kremlin. The Russian Communist party became the directing agency of the revolutionary movement.

Ruth Fischer, who had been one of the effective heads of the German party, cites this example of what Stalin did to remove her from the Presidium of the Comintern, in her book, "Stalin and German Communism":

> "Stalin, however, had another plan. All members of the Presidium, myself included, were required under Comintern discipline to sign the Open Letter and then to defend it in our parties. Thus I was driven to sign my own political death warrant and to confess my sins in public."

Further she wrote:

"Thus the principle of hierarchical discipline was applied against me. If there are differences in the Politburo, its decision by majority vote is binding on all members and they are not allowed by Bolshevik precepts to discuss their point of difference even in the Central Committee. Dissidents in the Central Committee must defend the committee's point of view even in the party; party decisions have to be defended outside the party even by members who disagree with them. Thus at every level disagreement is kept to the group of minimum size, and at each step down the hierarchical scale the next larger body is presented with a unanimous mandate. The secrecy of each body's deliberations is sacred; for a member of a committee to discuss them with someone in a lower hierarchical unit is the Communist equivalent of a serious misdemeanor."

> This was in 1925, when Stalin was clearing away the impediments to his power. He sought to build a dictatorship and he did it at the cost of every principle of decency. One reason that Stalin was so successful, not only in Russia but in the Communist parties of all countries, was that he split the parties into Left and Right and middle-of-the-road and also he put large numbers of members on his payroll. For instance, about one-twelfth of the German party was in Russian pay. What share of the payroll of the American party was on the Russian payroll? How many Chinese Communists were on the Russian payroll?

Miss Fischer says of this:

". . . Bureaucrats are everywhere the props of a political apparatus; the peculiar feature of these Russian cadres within German labor was their secret coordination, their military control by secret agents, their direct affiliation with the center in Moscow . . ."

> In a word, it was an astute corruption of those who could not turn back from the course they had adopted. The state party and the party state were Stalin's achievement which Hitler copied. These two men have disturbed our age and our lives more than any other forces. The strength, for instance, of the American two-party system is that it recognizes vast differences of view. Stalin and Hitler killed off all differences of point of view.

Those who shout for unity in the United States have already forgotten that unity existed in Stalin's Russia and Hitler's Germany. They killed off every individual who impaired unity. Our strength is in our differences, not in unity. When we create a political system which is intolerant of differences, we shall be following the example of Stalin who rejected every departure from an acceptance of the views of the leadership of the party of which he became the sole leader. The ADA is an agency of unity and conformity in the United States. It has invaded both parties, supporting individuals who will use existing parties as vehicles for election but remaining true to the ADA program. Republicans are slowly waking up to this peril.

Watkins Committee Censure Decision May Bring New Blows At McCarthy

Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The resolution censuring Senator McCarthy, now almost certain to pass the Senate, will be only the beginning of jumpy Joe's troubles. His colleague are now talking about hitting him with a one-two punch.

Number One Punch: This will be the censure vote itself, which should send Joe sprawling. Now that the Watkins Committee has knocked down McCarthy's guard by recommending censure, most senators are eager to vote against him.

Number Two Punch: A group of senators, led by Republican Ralph Flanders of Vermont and Democrat Clint Anderson of New Mexico, are planning to follow up the censure vote with a demand that McCarthy reply to the long-unanswered questions about his finances.

This could lead to the final knockout blow—namely, impeachment by the Senate.

Meanwhile, doctors at Bethesda Naval Hospital whisper that McCarthy's recent "sick spell" was not so much sinus as it was nerves.

It is true that McCarthy has had chronic sinus trouble. It is also true that, immediately after the Watkins recommendation to censure him, McCarthy turned up at Bethesda Naval Hospital for sinus treatment. But the doctors frankly found more wrong with his nerves than his sinus.

Chronic sinus is aggravated by damp weather, they point out. McCarthy came for treatments after the "sinus season" during a comparative dry spell.

One doctor told this column that McCarthy's nerves were "shot," also that he has been drinking more than is good for him. Joe seldom turns down a can of beer or a shot of bourbon, but in the past, he hasn't really been a heavy drinker.

Unpopularity Vote

Meanwhile, Senators Flanders and Anderson intend to keep McCarthy on the defensive. They are counting on Joe's personal unpopularity with his fellow senators to roll up a decisive vote against him. Now that a dignified Senate committee has recommended censure, it gives senators all the excuse they need to vote against him.

After the roll call, Flanders and Anderson will demand that Joe answer the questions about his finances that he has ducked for two years. They will point out that one of the censure counts is McCarthy's contempt for the committee which investigated his finances, also that McCarthy himself has criticized witnesses who refuse to answer questions.

On these grounds, they will introduce a follow-up resolution calling upon McCarthy to answer the questions he has been dodging. If these answers are unsatisfactory, they may urge another investigation to determine whether McCarthy ought to be impeached.

Another Censure

Another aftermath of the McCarthy hearings may be a move to censure Joe's political pal—suave, curly-haired Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, a Chicago Tribune Republican.

Senators are gravely concerned over an unpublicized finding, namely that Dirksen sent a political agent into secret sessions of the McCarthy Investigating Committee where highly confidential matters were discussed. What's more, this unauthorized visitor actually took part in questioning Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker about secret security matters.

The man in question is Harold Rainville, formerly Dirksen's assistant, who since mid-1953 has been employed by the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee.

Though not on the Senate payroll, Rainville attended several secret committee sessions at Dirksen's authorization and with McCarthy's permission. This was done in utter contempt of the rules and traditions of the Senate. In fact, it was a violation of the McCarthy Committee's own rules, which state that only committee members or authorized staff assistants may question witnesses and that only official committee representatives may attend closed-door sessions.

In 1929, Sen. Hiram Bingham, Connecticut Republican, was officially censured by the Senate for doing almost exactly what Dirksen did. The charge against Bingham was that he allowed an unauthorized person to attend closed sessions of a Senate committee.

Simple proof that Rainville had no authority to represent Dirksen at the hearings is contained in the confidential files of the Senate Disbursing Office. Rainville tried to collect expense money from the Senate for participating in the Fort Monmouth hearings last November. But the disbursing office flatly refused to pay him on the grounds that he was not an authorized Senate representative.

Thereafter, Rainville continued to attend the hearings just the same, but didn't try to collect expense money from the government.

The Fort Monmouth hearings, attended by Rainville, were so secret that they still haven't been released to the public. Later, at the Zwicker hearing, Rainville even went so far as to cast Dirksen's vote.

NOTE—Dirksen, who is known among his colleagues as "The Wizard of Ooze" for his fluid oratory style, delivered the main speech in the Senate against appointing the Watkins Committee. He is also preparing to lead the floor fight to kill the censure vote.

Precedent Shows Case Against McCarthy Is Flimsy

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Former President Truman now may have to be called before the Senate Committee on Rules—which is studying congressional committee methods—to explain why he refused to honor a subpoena from the Committee on Un-American Activities of the House of Representatives in connection with the alleged treason of the late Harry Dexter White.

Associate Justice Tom C. Clark of the Supreme Court of the United States may have to be summoned before the same committee to explain why he declined an invitation to discuss acts that occurred during the 12 years he was in the Department of Justice, four of them as attorney general. He refused the invitation of the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives last year when it was investigating scandals in the Department of Justice. He also refused a subpoena by the House Committee on Un-American Activities last year.

Not Equitable

Can Messrs. Truman and Clark "obstruct legislative processes" and be immune from contempt proceedings while Senator McCarthy is to be censured not for declining to honor a subpoena but merely for refusing an "invitation" to testify?

The testimony originally sought from Justice Clark had no relationship to any cases or proceedings before the Supreme Court, and he still is as much subject to a summons by the legislative branch of the government to explain past acts as he is by the executive branch if, for instance, anything is ever found to be wrong about his income taxes.

Is a former president and is a former attorney general to be regarded as exempt from cross-examination by a congressional committee while, as in the case of Senator McCarthy, a member of the Senate has to submit to interrogation on acts that occurred either before he came to the Senate or prior to his current term?

One can almost hear some counterpart of the Watkins Committee writing about the refusals to testify by Messrs. Truman and and Clark:

"This is a continuing government...The mere reading of the testimony by J. Edgar Hoover in the case of Harry Dexter White and by other witnesses before the House committee investigating tax scandals makes it clear that the conduct of these officials who were the responsible officers in charge are under inquiry. These men owe it to Congress to testify if the dignity, honor and authority of the Congress are to be maintained. When persons in high places fail to set and meet high standards by refusing to give their own government information needed to prevent recurrences of wrongdoing, the people lose faith, and if our people lose faith, our government cannot long endure."

What also shall be done now with the case of Senator William Langer, of North Dakota, who is chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee? If the Watkins Committee report is logically to be followed when it says it has the power to punish a senator for any act committed whether in this term or prior thereto, then the Senate may have before it for reconsideration the case described recently in the Congressional Record as follows:

Committee's Advice Ignored

"Langer was elected senator on November 5, 1940. On January 3, 1941, he was permitted to take his seat 'without prejudice' either to himself or the Senate. His credentials were later turned over to the Committee on Privileges and Elections, which considered the case for over a year. On January 29, 1942, the committee reported, with the majority recommending that inasmuch as the charge of 'moral turpitude had been proven beyond all reasonable doubt,' the 'integrity of the United States Senate be upheld by denying William Langer the right to be a United States senator from the State of North Dakota.' ... Two alleged acts of corruption apparently involving Langer particularly disturbed the committee: (1) a lawyer for the Great Northern Railway, it was charged, paid Langer $25,000 for stock in some Mexican lands (already expropriated) after the railway's taxes were cut $150,000 a year; (2) Attorney Gregory Brunk, after profiting handsomely in North Dakota county bonds, paid Langer, the committee asserted, $56,800 for dust bowl lands the former had never seen."

The Senate ignored its committee's advice and, by a vote of 52 to 30, upheld Senator Langer's right to his seat. One of the moving considerations was that what happened, whether right or wrong, occurred before the senator was elected to the Senate for his then current term. Senator McCarthy's right to his seat could have been challenged on January 2, 1953, at the opening of the present Congress, of the charges about his income taxes had then brought forth for inquiry. But they were not, though the same senators who are making the censure charges now were present in the Senate.

If precedents mean anything, the legal case against the Wisconsin senator stands on flimsy ground. Chairman Watkins, however, arbitrarily refused to permit the McCarthy lawyer to introduce such precedents, and the committee rendered its adverse verdict just the same.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

If you take the New York reform wave at its source you will not have to grow up with the business. They will give it to you quicker than that.

Since that hassel with Albany we have been getting transfusions from turnips. The reason both ends meet is because there's no middle.

We finally got an economy we can afford by putting plungers on the parking meters. If it comes up three plums the parkers get their Canadian dimes back.

Eleven awning inspectors were laid off in the Bronx. The biggest economy was firing the fire-plug watchers.

There were 200 fire-hydrant estimators in the five boroughs. Things were so lonely they gave a parking ticket to a hook-and-ladder saving people in a tenement blaze.

The fire-plug inspectors have been retired on half-pay for life. If I know those boys they'll serve it.

New York fire-plugs are painted red so we can find 'em when they're busted. The watchers have been walking in pairs for protection.

The commissioner of fire plugs hasn't lost his job now that the 200 men are gone. The plugs are still there.

Cough Is Characteristic Feature Of Bronchiectasis

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Some persons find it difficult to "shake off a cold" and in a few, bronchial symptoms persist. The ensuing chronic bronchitis is distressing and months may elapse before recovery.

Should the smaller bronchi, leading to the air sacs, become weakened from disease they may dilate and form pockets. These cavities are capable of harboring large amounts of sputum which soon become a storehouse of bacteria. If this infection continues, bronchiectasis, a progressive disorder, follows.

Cough is the most characteristic feature of the malady along with expectoration of much foul smelling sputum. Cough usually comes in paroxysms and subsides when enough mucus is raised to empty the involved bronchi.

Hacking usually is initiated by change of position such as stooping, lying down, or rolling over. It results from irritation produced when the mucus present in the bronchi is shifted into a new position. Once the mucopurulent material is expelled the individual does not cough again until the reservoir refills.

Since infection co-exists, most victims tire easily and are short of breath. In children with bronchiectasis, growth may be retarded by absorption of toxins. Furthermore, because resistance is low, the patient is susceptible to recurrent colds.

Acute episodes are likely to be severe and often are mistaken for pleurisy, pneumonia, or whooping cough. As a rule, bronchiectasis is chronic but when it is mild, normal existence is possible except when a superimposed cold intervenes.

Surgery offers the only chance of cure. All chest operations are serious, but during the past decade, bronchial surgery has become safer and more effective. Not all sufferers are advised to have the operation but when conditions are ideal, the patient makes an excellent recovery. Surgery is not recommended when the disease is mild, the afflicted individual is old, or the disease is widespread.

Penicillin or other antibiotic brings the infection under control and makes the secretions more watery and easier to bring up. The remedy is taken internally or inhaled in an aerosol mixture. An enzyme in an aerosol mixture also has proved helpful in this way. The effect is temporary, however, and coughing bouts return with every new cold.

Bronchiectasis victims benefit by living in areas where the air is clean and the incidence of respiratory infections is low. Resistance must be kept up by getting plenty of sleep, eating a well balanced diet, and following the other rules of health to the letter.

NO SEE 'EMS

Mrs. G. writes: We have a cottage in the woods and are bothered by the bites of no see 'ems. How can these insects be eliminated?

REPLY

These insects, also called punkies and biting midges, are tiny biting flies small enough to pass through ordinary mosquito screens. Insect sprays, especially those containing DDT, should be effective. Insect repellents may help.

OILY PLUG

E. J. writes: What is a fat embolism?

REPLY

A fatty substance from the bone marrow that enters the blood stream and travels to a more distance part of the body. It lodges ultimately in a smaller blood vessel and obstructs the flow from this point on. The condition may follow in the wake of a fractured bone.

ODOR WON'T HURT

Mrs. R. writes: We are putting moth balls in our closets, which are connected with the bedrooms. We get some of the smell, even though the windows are open. Is this smell harmful?

REPLY

No, because not enough of the substance is inhaled to prove toxic. Some persons are upset by the odor but the effects usually are attributed to the fear of being poisoned. Sucking of mothballs or swallowing them is a different matter. Children have been poisoned in this way.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Perusal of the Los Angeles papers proved particularly rewarding one morning. In the entertainment section, for instance, an organization that called itself — presumably voluntary—"The Nudie Cuties" boasted as its star "Exotic Lorali." In small type this additional information was vouchsafed: (Exotic Lorali was formerly Exotic Lily). And a news story began intriguingly, "An eastbound automobile collided with a westbound house on Beverly Boulevard yesterday. Seems the structure was being removed from the path of a projected freeway, which so confused a lady driver she smacked right through a sun porch and drawing room."

Highlighting the vagaries of Texas wealth, George Fuermann, of the Houston Post, tells about the citizen who consulted the Weather Bureau for the latest reports on a hurricane he had heat was threatening the area. "You'll have to be more specific," snapped the harassed weatherman. "Do you mean the eastbound or the westbound hurricane?"

Invidious Comparisons

By Brother Barnabas

A subscriber complained that "Punch" was not as good as it used to be. Punch replied, "It never was."

Such "invidious comparisons" are heard on every street corner, in every gossip center, and in family circles, about many things.

"Times have changed. It's not like the good old days, the gay nineties, the horse-and-buggy days. It's so different now."

"Nowadays, anybody who doesn't 'keep up with Lizzie,' doesn't dress in style, or speak the patois of the smart set is considered a back number."

"Church is so different now than when I was a boy. They had an 'Amen Corner' occupied by bewhiskered men and sunbonneted women, and 'amens' were frequently heard punctuating the sermon. The religious temperature has never since reached the boiling point."

In the old days a sermon used to convert 3,000 men. Now that the temperature is down it takes 3,000 sermons to convert one man.

Three-Dimensional World

Youth of a generation or two ago lived a simple life. Today they are trying to find their way through a three-dimensional world with a one-dimensional insight, and they are as bewildered as their parents and teachers.

Whether times are improving or getting worse often depends on what takes place at the family breakfast table. Husband-and-wife-relations set the pattern for domestic felicity or the opposite.

"My first husband was the most perfect man I ever knew. He never looked at a woman twice till he saw me." Such invidious comparisons draw a red herring across the path to marital happiness and become a counsel of imperfection.

An Assyrian tablet written in 2800 B. C. reads: "Our earth is degenerate in these latter days; there are signs that the world is speedily coming to an end. Bribery and corruption are common, children no longer obey their parents, everybody wants to write a book."

These same "signs" are extant today, and the old world is still wangling along.

Many ancient cliches have survival power. It has been said there are no new jokes. God must be fond of jokes, else he would not have made so many persons who are jokes.

"I would have been a very handsome man, but they changed me in the cradle." That quip comes from Don Quizote and is Spanish. But Cervantes borrowed it from the Greek, and the Greeks stole it from the Egyptians hundreds of years ago.

Long Way To Go

"If you didn't keep your mouth open so much of the time talking you wouldn't get your foot in it so often." That Irish bull is pat today with reference to some of our ranking politicians, though it has an ancient lineage.

Looking at the world at too close range, there may be debate whether the race is improving or retrograding.

But the "man from Mars" might note a gradual ascent from primeval man to homo sapiens.

He would note the passing of slavery, imprisonment for debt, infanticide, witchcraft, polygamy, marriage by capture, trial by ordeal, dueling, gladiatorial combats, and what have you.

But we have a long way to go before we reach the millenium—with racism, sectionalism, militarism, paganism, poverty and hunger rampant.

If 600,000 scientists working together can produce an atom bomb, why can't 600 scientists be put to work to eliminate group hatreds and thus end communism and war?

A minister in the deep South, in the conduct of a funeral service, paraphrased Luke 13:29: "Men will come from east and west, and from (mmmmmm) and south, and sit at table in the kingdom of God."

He read it a second time, inserting "and there mout be some from the north."

Denial Of Christianity

There is a growing feeling that prejudice and church segregation are a glaring denial of Christianity, of which the Apostle Paul declared: "There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave nor free, there is neither male nor female; for you are all one in Christ Jesus" (Galatians 3:28).

The "World Council of Churches" and "World Communion Sunday" which the churches all over the world will celebrate tomorrow are signs that the doctrine is taking hold.

When it fully possesses men's souls it will make archaic that "invidious comparison" between the natives and the white invaders of South Africa. When they came they had the Bible and the natives had the land. In a little while the natives had the Bible and the white men had the land.

A local southern pastor offered the opening prayer at a Republican convention held in a rock-ribbed Democratic stronghold.

The morning paper carried the story. The preacher's phone began to buzz as one after another of his parishioners called to express their astonishment. He was driven to distraction.

The following Sunday from the pulpit he confessed that he had learned his lesson. The next time a penitent sinner came to the altar to find God he would ask him first if he were a Democrat. If he said yes, he would tell him.

But if he said he was a Republican he would tell him to go to h—l.

Penitently yours,
BROTHER BARNABAS

If his program is to be continued and achieved, he must have the help that only a predominantly Republican Congress will give him. There must be cooperation between the legislative and executive branches of our government but this cooperation will hardly be forthcoming if the Congress is predominantly Democratic when it is organized after the election.

To assure continued good government, to accomplish the program of President Eisenhower and to take advantage of the abilities of an experienced legislator, one with a still brighter future ahead of him, DeWitt S. Hyde should be re-elected to Congress on November 2.

These Days

The Monolithic Party

Before Stalin, the international Communist party included many facets of opinion. There were many varieties of views and many differences as to methods of winning the world to communism. The party congresses were really often meetings at which the debate was tense and exciting. Also, the Comintern was not bound to Russia which was only one country in it. In fact there were times when the German Communist party was as important as the Russian party and the hope of the Bolsheviks was that Germany would stage the major Marxist Revolution.

Stalin changed all that. He destroyed all dissent, all differences of opinion. He had those who opposed him killed or exiled. He reduced the Comintern from an international organization to a branch of the Kremlin. The Russian Communist party became the directing agency of the revolutionary movement.

Ruth Fischer, who had been one of the effective heads of the German party, cites this example of what Stalin did to remove her from the Presidium of the Comintern, in her book, "Stalin and German Communism":

> "Stalin, however, had another plan. All members of the Presidium, myself included, were required under Comintern discipline to sign the Open Letter and then to defend it in our parties. Thus I was driven to sign my own political death warrant and to confess my sins in public."

Further she wrote:

"Thus the principle of hierarchical discipline was applied against me. If there are differences in the Politburo, its decision by majority vote is binding on all members and they are not allowed by Bolshevik precepts to discuss their point of difference even in the Central Committee. Dissidents in the Central Committee must defend the committee's point of view even in the party; party decisions have to be defended outside the party even by members who disagree with them. Thus at every level disagreement is kept to the group of minimum size, and at each step down the hierarchical scale the next larger body is presented with a unanimous mandate. The secrecy of each body's deliberations is sacred; for a member of a committee to discuss them with someone in a lower hierarchical unit is the Communist equivalent of a serious misdemeanor."

This was in 1925, when Stalin was clearing away the impediments to his power. He sought to build a dictatorship and he did it at the cost of every principle of decency. One reason that Stalin was so successful, not only in Russia but in the Communist parties of all countries, was that he split the parties into Left and Right and middle-of-the-road and also he put large numbers of members on his payroll. For instance, about one-twelfth of the German party was in Russian pay. What share of the payroll of the American party was on the Russian payroll? How many Chinese Communists were on the Russian payroll?

Miss Fischer says of this:

". . . Bureaucrats are everywhere the props of a political apparatus; the peculiar feature of these Russian cadres within German labor was their secret coordination, their military control by secret agents, their direct affiliation with the center in Moscow . . ."

In a word, it was an astute corruption of those who could not turn back from the course they had adopted. The state party and the party state were Stalin's achievement which Hitler copied. These two men have disturbed our age and our lives more than any other forces. The strength, for instance, of the American two-party system is that it recognizes vast differences of view. Stalin and Hitler killed off all differences of point of view.

Those who shout for unity in the United States have already forgotten that unity existed in Stalin's Russia and Hitler's Germany. They killed off every individual who impaired unity. Our strength is in our differences, not in unity. When we create a political system which is intolerant of differences, we shall be following the example of Stalin who rejected every departure from an acceptance of the views of the leadership of the party of which he became the sole leader. The ADA is an agency of unity and conformity in the United States. It has invaded both parties, supporting individuals who will use existing parties as vehicles for election but remaining true to the ADA program. Republicans are slowly waking up to this peril.

Watkins Committee Censure Decision May Bring New Blows At McCarthy

Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The resolution censuring Senator McCarthy, now almost certain to pass the Senate, will be only the beginning of jumpy Joe's troubles. His colleague are now talking about hitting him with a one-two punch.

Number One Punch: This will be the censure vote itself, which should send Joe sprawling. Now that the Watkins Committee has knocked down McCarthy's guard by recommending censure, most senators are eager to vote against him.

Number Two Punch: A group of senators, led by Republican Ralph Flanders of Vermont and Democrat Clint Anderson of New Mexico, are planning to follow up the censure vote with a demand that McCarthy reply to the long-unanswered questions about his finances.

This could lead to the final knockout blow—namely, impeachment by the Senate.

Meanwhile, doctors at Bethesda Naval Hospital whisper that McCarthy's recent "sick spell" was not so much sinus as it was nerves.

It is true that McCarthy has had chronic sinus trouble. It is also true that, immediately after the Watkins recommendation to censure him, McCarthy turned up at Bethesda Naval Hospital for sinus treatment. But the doctors frankly found more wrong with his nerves than his sinus.

Chronic sinus is aggravated by damp weather, they point out. McCarthy came for treatments after the "sinus season" during a comparative dry spell.

One doctor told this column that McCarthy's nerves were "shot," also that he has been drinking more than is good for him. Joe seldom turns down a can of beer or a shot of bourbon, but in the past, he hasn't really been a heavy drinker.

Unpopularity Vote

Meanwhile, Senators Flanders and Anderson intend to keep McCarthy on the defensive. They are counting on Joe's personal unpopularity with his fellow senators to roll up a decisive vote against him. Now that a dignified Senate committee has recommended censure, it gives senators all the excuse they need to vote against him.

After the roll call, Flanders and Anderson will demand that Joe answer the questions about his finances that he has ducked for two years. They will point out that one of the censure counts is McCarthy's contempt for the committee which investigated his finances, also that McCarthy himself has criticized witnesses who refuse to answer questions.

On these grounds, they will introduce a follow-up resolution calling upon McCarthy to answer the questions he has been dodging. If these answers are unsatisfactory, they may urge another investigation to determine whether McCarthy ought to be impeached.

Another Censure

Another aftermath of the McCarthy hearings may be a move to censure Joe's political pal—suave, curly-haired Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, a Chicago Tribune Republican.

Senators are gravely concerned over an unpublicized finding, namely that Dirksen sent a political agent into secret sessions of the McCarthy Investigating Committee where highly confidential matters were discussed. What's more, this unauthorized visitor actually took part in questioning Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker about secret security matters.

The man in question is Harold Rainville, formerly Dirksen's assistant, who since mid-1953 has been employed by the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee.

Though not on the Senate payroll, Rainville attended several secret committee sessions at Dirksen's authorization and with McCarthy's permission. This was done in utter contempt of the rules and traditions of the Senate. In fact, it was a violation of the McCarthy Committee's own rules, which state that only committee members or authorized staff assistants may question witnesses and that only official committee representatives may attend closed-door sessions.

In 1929, Sen. Hiram Bingham, Connecticut Republican, was officially censured by the Senate for doing almost exactly what Dirksen did. The charge against Bingham was that he allowed an unauthorized person to attend closed sessions of a Senate committee.

Simple proof that Rainville had no authority to represent Dirksen at the hearings is contained in the confidential files of the Senate Disbursing Office. Rainville tried to collect expense money from the Senate for participating in the Fort Monmouth hearings last November. But the disbursing office flatly refused to pay him on the grounds that he was not an authorized Senate representative.

Thereafter, Rainville continued to attend the hearings just the same, but didn't try to collect expense money from the government.

The Fort Monmouth hearings, attended by Rainville, were so secret that they still haven't been released to the public. Later, at the Zwicker hearing, Rainville even went so far as to cast Dirksen's vote.

NOTE—Dirksen, who is known among his colleagues as "The Wizard of Ooze" for his fluid oratory style, delivered the main speech in the Senate against appointing the Watkins Committee. He is also preparing to lead the floor fight to kill the censure vote.

Precedent Shows Case Against McCarthy Is Flimsy

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Former President Truman now may have to be called before the Senate Committee on Rules—which is studying congressional committee methods—to explain why he refused to honor a subpoena from the Committee on Un-American Activities of the House of Representatives in connection with the alleged treason of the late Harry Dexter White.

Associate Justice Tom C. Clark of the Supreme Court of the United States may have to be summoned before the same committee to explain why he declined an invitation to discuss acts that occurred during the 12 years he was in the Department of Justice, four of them as attorney general. He refused the invitation of the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives last year when it was investigating scandals in the Department of Justice. He also refused a subpoena by the House Committee on Un-American Activities last year.

Not Equitable

Can Messrs. Truman and Clark "obstruct legislative processes" and be immune from contempt proceedings while Senator McCarthy is to be censured not for declining to honor a subpoena but merely for refusing an "invitation" to testify?

The testimony originally sought from Justice Clark had no relationship to any cases or proceedings before the Supreme Court, and he still is as much subject to a summons by the legislative branch of the government to explain past acts as he is by the executive branch if, for instance, anything is ever found to be wrong about his income taxes.

Is a former president and is a former attorney general to be regarded as exempt from cross-examination by a congressional committee while, as in the case of Senator McCarthy, a member of the Senate has to submit to interrogation on acts that occurred either before he came to the Senate or prior to his current term?

One can almost hear some counterpart of the Watkins Committee writing about the refusals to testify by Messrs. Truman and and Clark:

"This is a continuing government...The mere reading of the testimony by J. Edgar Hoover in the case of Harry Dexter White and by other witnesses before the House committee investigating tax scandals makes it clear that the conduct of these officials who were the responsible officers in charge are under inquiry. These men owe it to Congress to testify if the dignity, honor and authority of the Congress are to be maintained. When persons in high places fail to set and meet high standards by refusing to give their own government information needed to prevent recurrences of wrongdoing, the people lose faith, and if our people lose faith, our government cannot long endure."

What also shall be done now with the case of Senator William Langer, of North Dakota, who is chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee? If the Watkins Committee report is logically to be followed when it says it has the power to punish a senator for any act committed whether in this term or prior thereto, then the Senate may have before it for reconsideration the case described recently in the Congressional Record as follows:

Committee's Advice Ignored

"Langer was elected senator on November 5, 1940. On January 3, 1941, he was permitted to take his seat 'without prejudice' either to himself or the Senate. His credentials were later turned over to the Committee on Privileges and Elections, which considered the case for over a year. On January 29, 1942, the committee reported, with the majority recommending that inasmuch as the charge of 'moral turpitude had been proven beyond all reasonable doubt,' the 'integrity of the United States Senate be upheld by denying William Langer the right to be a United States senator from the State of North Dakota.' ... Two alleged acts of corruption apparently involving Langer particularly disturbed the committee: (1) a lawyer for the Great Northern Railway, it was charged, paid Langer $25,000 for stock in some Mexican lands (already expropriated) after the railway's taxes were cut $150,000 a year; (2) Attorney Gregory Brunk, after profiting handsomely in North Dakota county bonds, paid Langer, the committee asserted, $56,800 for dust bowl lands the former had never seen."

The Senate ignored its committee's advice and, by a vote of 52 to 30, upheld Senator Langer's right to his seat. One of the moving considerations was that what happened, whether right or wrong, occurred before the senator was elected to the Senate for his then current term. Senator McCarthy's right to his seat could have been challenged on January 2, 1953, at the opening of the present Congress, of the charges about his income taxes had then brought forth for inquiry. But they were not, though the same senators who are making the censure charges now were present in the Senate.

If precedents mean anything, the legal case against the Wisconsin senator stands on flimsy ground. Chairman Watkins, however, arbitrarily refused to permit the McCarthy lawyer to introduce such precedents, and the committee rendered its adverse verdict just the same.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

If you take the New York reform wave at its source you will not have to grow up with the business. They will give it to you quicker than that.

Since that hassel with Albany we have been getting transfusions from turnips. The reason both ends meet is because there's no middle.

We finally got an economy we can afford by putting plungers on the parking meters. If it comes up three plums the parkers get their Canadian dimes back.

Eleven awning inspectors were laid off in the Bronx. The biggest economy was firing the fire-plug watchers.

There were 200 fire-hydrant estimators in the five boroughs. Things were so lonely they gave a parking ticket to a hook-and-ladder saving people in a tenement blaze.

The fire-plug inspectors have been retired on half-pay for life. If I know those boys they'll serve it.

New York fire-plugs are painted red so we can find 'em when they're busted. The watchers have been walking in pairs for protection.

The commissioner of fire plugs hasn't lost his job now that the 200 men are gone. The plugs are still there.

Cough Is Characteristic Feature Of Bronchiectasis

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Some persons find it difficult to "shake off a cold" and in a few, bronchial symptoms persist. The ensuing chronic bronchitis is distressing and months may elapse before recovery.

Should the smaller bronchi, leading to the air sacs, become weakened from disease they may dilate and form pockets. These cavities are capable of harboring large amounts of sputum which soon become a storehouse of bacteria. If this infection continues, bronchiectasis, a progressive disorder, follows.

Cough is the most characteristic feature of the malady along with expectoration of much foul smelling sputum. Cough usually comes in paroxysms and subsides when enough mucus is raised to empty the involved bronchi.

Hacking usually is initiated by change of position such as stooping, lying down, or rolling over. It results from irritation produced when the mucus present in the bronchi is shifted into a new position. Once the mucopurulent material is expelled the individual does not cough again until the reservoir refills.

Since infection co-exists, most victims tire easily and are short of breath. In children with bronchiectasis, growth may be retarded by absorption of toxins. Furthermore, because resistance is low, the patient is susceptible to recurrent colds.

Acute episodes are likely to be severe and often are mistaken for pleurisy, pneumonia, or whooping cough. As a rule, bronchiectasis is chronic but when it is mild, normal existence is possible except when a superimposed cold intervenes.

Surgery offers the only chance of cure. All chest operations are serious, but during the past decade, bronchial surgery has become safer and more effective. Not all sufferers are advised to have the operation but when conditions are ideal, the patient makes an excellent recovery. Surgery is not recommended when the disease is mild, the afflicted individual is old, or the disease is widespread.

Penicillin or other antibiotic brings the infection under control and makes the secretions more watery and easier to bring up. The remedy is taken internally or inhaled in an aerosol mixture. An enzyme in an aerosol mixture also has proved helpful in this way. The effect is temporary, however, and coughing bouts return with every new cold.

Bronchiectasis victims benefit by living in areas where the air is clean and the incidence of respiratory infections is low. Resistance must be kept up by getting plenty of sleep, eating a well balanced diet, and following the other rules of health to the letter.

NO SEE 'EMS

Mrs. G. writes: We have a cottage in the woods and are bothered by the bites of no see 'ems. How can these insects be eliminated?

REPLY

These insects, also called punkies and biting midges, are tiny biting flies small enough to pass through ordinary mosquito screens. Insect sprays, especially those containing DDT, should be effective. Insect repellents may help.

OILY PLUG

E. J. writes: What is a fat embolism?

REPLY

A fatty substance from the bone marrow that enters the blood stream and travels to a more distance part of the body. It lodges ultimately in a smaller blood vessel and obstructs the flow from this point on. The condition may follow in the wake of a fractured bone.

ODOR WON'T HURT

Mrs. R. writes: We are putting moth balls in our closets, which are connected with the bedrooms. We get some of the smell, even though the windows are open. Is this smell harmful?

REPLY

No, because not enough of the substance is inhaled to prove toxic. Some persons are upset by the odor but the effects usually are attributed to the fear of being poisoned. Sucking of mothballs or swallowing them is a different matter. Children have been poisoned in this way.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

Perusal of the Los Angeles papers proved particularly rewarding one morning. In the entertainment section, for instance, an organization that called itself — presumably voluntary—"The Nudie Cuties" boasted as its star "Exotic Lorali." In small type this additional information was vouchsafed: (Exotic Lorali was formerly Exotic Lily). And a news story began intriguingly, "An eastbound automobile collided with a westbound house on Beverly Boulevard yesterday. Seems the structure was being removed from the path of a projected freeway, which so confused a lady driver she smacked right through a sun porch and drawing room."

Highlighting the vagaries of Texas wealth, George Fuermann, of the Houston Post, tells about the citizen who consulted the Weather Bureau for the latest reports on a

Invidious Comparisons

By Brother Barnabas

A subscriber complained that "Punch" was not as good as it used to be. Punch replied, "It never was."

Such "invidious comparisons" are heard on every street corner, in every gossip center, and in family circles, about many things.

"Times have changed. It's not like the good old days, the gay nineties, the horse-and-buggy days. It's so different now."

"Nowadays, anybody who doesn't 'keep up with Lizzie,' doesn't dress in style, or speak the patois of the smart set is considered a back number."

"Church is so different now than when I was a boy. They had an 'Amen Corner' occupied by bewhiskered men and sunbonneted women, and 'amens' were frequently heard punctuating the sermon. The religious temperature has never since reached the boiling point."

In the old days a sermon used to convert 3,000 men. Now that the temperature is down it takes 3,000 sermons to convert one man.

Three-Dimensional World

Youth of a generation or two ago lived a simple life. Today they are trying to find their way through a three-dimensional world with a one-dimensional insight, and they are as bewildered as their parents and teachers.

Whether times are improving or getting worse often depends on what takes place at the family breakfast table. Husband-and-wife-relations set the pattern for domestic felicity or the opposite.

"My first husband was the most perfect man I ever knew. He never looked at a woman twice till he saw me." Such invidious comparisons draw a red herring across the path to marital happiness and become a counsel of imperfection.

An Assyrian tablet written in 2800 B. C. reads: "Our earth is degenerate in these latter days; there are signs that the world is speedily coming to an end. Bribery and corruption are common, children no longer obey their parents, everybody wants to write a book."

These same "signs" are extant today, and the old world is still wangling along.

Many ancient cliches have survival power. It has been said there are no new jokes. God must be fond of jokes, else he would not have made so many persons who are jokes.

"I would have been a very handsome man, but they changed me in the cradle." That quip comes from Don Quizote and is Spanish. But Cervantes borrowed it from the Greek, and the Greeks stole it from the Egyptians hundreds of years ago.

Long Way To Go

"If you didn't keep your mouth open so much of the time talking you wouldn't get your foot in it so often." That Irish bull is pat today with reference to some of our ranking politicians, though it has an ancient lineage.

Looking at the world at too close range, there may be debate whether the race is improving or retrograding.

But the "man from Mars" might note a gradual ascent from primeval man to homo sapiens.

He would note the passing of slavery, imprisonment for debt, infanticide, witchcraft, polygamy, marriage by capture, trial by ordeal, dueling, gladiatorial combats, and what have you.

But we have a long way to go before we reach the millenium—with racism, sectionalism, militarism, paganism, poverty and hunger rampant.

If 600,000 scientists working together can produce an atom bomb, why can't 600 scientists be put to work to eliminate group hatreds and thus end communism and war?

A minister in the deep South, in the conduct of a funeral service, paraphrased Luke 13:29: "Men will come from east and west, and from (mmmmmm) and south, and sit at table in the kingdom of God."

He read it a second time, inserting "and there mout be some from the north."

Denial Of Christianity

There is a growing feeling that prejudice and church segregation are a glaring denial of Christianity, of which the Apostle Paul declared: "There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave nor free, there is neither male nor female; for you are all one in Christ Jesus" (Galatians 3:28).

The "World Council of Churches" and "World Communion Sunday" which the churches all over the world will celebrate tomorrow are signs that the doctrine is taking hold.

When it fully possesses men's souls it will make archaic that "invidious comparison" between the natives and the white invaders of South Africa. When they came they had the Bible and the natives had the land. In a little while the natives had the Bible and the white men had the land.

A local southern pastor offered the opening prayer at a Republican convention held in a rock-ribbed Democratic stronghold.

The morning paper carried the story. The preacher's phone began to buzz as one after another of his parishioners called to express their astonishment. He was driven to distraction.

The following Sunday from the pulpit he confessed that he had learned his lesson. The next time a penitent sinner came to the altar to find God he would ask him first if he were a Democrat. If he said yes, he would tell him.

But if he said he was a Republican he would tell him to go to h—l.

A favored Hagerstown High School eleven staged a dramatic finish against the undefeated Allegany Campers last night at Fort Hill Stadium and managed to salvage a 13-13 tie after nearly everyone except a few diehard Hub fans had given up hope for Mel Henry's team.

The first Hagerstown TD came after the Campers lost the ball on downs on the visitors' 14-yard line.

Lochbaum Goes Over

The Hubs, moving slowly but surely to the Allegany goal, picked up six first downs in their touchdown march which was climaxed by fullback Charlie Lochbaum's dive into the end zone from the four-yard line.

Lightning, in the person of Donald "Ducky" Perdew, struck moments later, as the speedy Allegany fullback raced 54 yards for an Allegany TD.

"Bucky" Rice had returned Poffenberger's kickoff to his own 46-yard line after hauling it in on the 16. On the first play from scrimmage following the kick, Perdew took a pitchout from quarterback Allan Haines, cut wide to his right, nearly stepped out of bounds, and then completely reversed his field, galloping 54 yards for the score.

Campers Strike Again

With only seconds remaining in the first half, the Campers struck again, following Barry Sterner's recovery of Roy Stotler's fumble on the Allegany 37.

The crucial infraction occurred late in the final quarter. Following a punt return, Hagerstown's Dave Wachter threw two passes, the second of which was grabbed by Alco's Bob Fletcher. However, one of the out-of-town officials, assigned to last night's game, detected one of the Campers offside and the Hubs retained possession of the ball.

Two plays later, Wachter hit Stotler with a 38-yard aerial, placing the ball on the Allegany seven. After three straight thrusts at the goal failed, Lochbaum, on fourth down, bulled his way over from the two-yard line.

4,000 Fans See Game

By this time, many of the nearly 4,000 fans who witnessed the contest had poured out of the stands onto the sidelines. The screaming throng seemed to have no effect on Lochbaum, as he proceeded to boot the ball through the uprights for the point which meant the difference between victory and defeat for the two rivals. The final TD came with just 30 seconds showing on the scoreboard clock.

Johnson, Ronnie Leib, Eddie Alderman, and Sterner stood out on the Camper line, while Perdew, Cecil, and Fletcher, who replaced Rice when the latter was injured, shone in the Camper backfield.

Biggs and Poffenberger were the Hubs' defensive standouts, while Wachter, Lochbaum, and Ringer stood out in the backfield.

INDIANS SCRAMBLE FOR FOUL FLY—In the second inning of the third World Series game yesterday at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium Whitey Lockman of the New York Giants hit a foul ball beyond first base and this camera sequence records three Cleveland Indians trying to make the out. Typical of the trouble they had fielding all day the out was finally made when second baseman Bobby Avila caught the ball and took a spill. Indians' rightfielder Dave Philley and hatless Avila come under the ball and Avila finally gets it as Philley does a dance to get away. Avila falls down but holds onto the ball as Vic Wertz (23) tries to stay out of the way. With the Giants holding a commanding 3-0 lead as the result of yesterday's 6-2 triumph Manager Al Lopez of the Indians will come back with Bob Lemon as his pitching choice today. Pilot Leo Durocher of the Giants has nominated Don Liddle, little southpaw with a 9-4 record. Lemon lost the first game when Dusty Rhodes smacked a three-run homer in the 10th.

LaSalle Travels To Spring Grove For Sunday Tilt

Meets Unbeaten Grid Team In St. Francis

LaSalle High's Explorers will test an unbeaten and unscored upon eleven Sunday afternoon when they travel to Spring Grove, Pa., to meet St. Francis Prep's Hill toppers in a 2 p. m. struggle.

Coach Norman Geatz will take approximately 30 players to Spring Grove by automobile, leaving early Sunday morning for the Pennsylvania town.

St. Francis, coached this year by Robert Long who was assistant to Len Zataveski last season, takes an unblemished record into tomorrow's contest. The Hilltoppers defeated strong Lansdale Catholic High School of Philadelphia, 7-0, in their opener two weeks ago and last week downed Calvert Hall of Baltimore, 19-0.

St. Francis, which is populated by many foreign students and closes early in November for the Christmas holidays, plans to hold a Homecoming Day celebration Sunday with the LaSalle-Hilltoppers football game as the highlight of the day's festivities.

The Spring Grove eleven will wear maroon and white uniforms. Two linesmen, Gino Alberici, senior guard, and Leon Matthews, senior center, are co-captains for the Hilltoppers.

LaSalle, defeated last week by Fort Hill, 27-7, will be seeking its third win of the campaign against the Spring Grove crew. The Explorers, with co-captains Ricky Harris and Joe Conroy leading the way, have defeated Bedford High's Bisons 6-0 and Petersburg, W. Va., High, 21-0.

Geatz said last night he expects to start Michael Dougherty and Phil Geatz at ends, Dennis Drumm and Bill Dove at tackles, Harris and Edward Fagan at guards, John Blake at center, with Conroy at quarter, Ed Bush and Ken Lowery at the halves and Harold Hudson at fullback in the backfield.

Schute's Roofers Maintain Dux Lead

Schute's Roofers maintained a one-game margin in first place in the Cities Service Bowling League by registering two victories against second-place Baltimore Pike Fire Company this week.

Queen City Dairy went into a tie for the runnerup spot by virtue of a 2-1 decision over the last place Super Concrete Company. In the other match C&A Gas Company took a 2-1 win from McIntyre's Grocery.

High scorers were G. Eyler, McIntyre's, 219-591; G. Sachs, C&A, 232-533! F. Oss, Queen City, 200-493; G. Grapes, Super Concrete, 217-493; T. McGeady, Schute's, 198-459; and J. Bruner, Baltimore Pike, 164-456. The standings:

Coach Wesley Abrams, in his first season at the helm of the Romney High Pioneers, kept his coaching slate clean yesterday, as the Pioneers edged the Moorefield Yellowjackets, 6-0 in a hard-fought contest at Romney.

It was Romney's fourth straight win of the 1954 season and second in the Potomac Valley Conference, while the Yellowjackets' loss left them with a season record of two wins and one loss. Coach Johnny Paugh's eleven, which had previously been unscored upon, has a record of one win and one loss in the PVC.

The only score of the game came in the first period and was set up when Roland Shanholtz, Pioneer halfback, recovered a Moorefield fumble on the Yellowjackets' 25-yard line.

On the first play from scrimmage following the recovered fumble, Shanholtz lateraled to Emory Landis, who raced 25 yards for the touchdown. John Smith's attempt for the extra point was no good.

Bean, Moorefield quarterback, filled the air with passes, but his receivers were able to grab only five of 24, for a total of 33 yards. Romney, on the other hand, completed three of four aerials for 30 yards.

The home team also outshone its opponents in rushing, reeling off 307 yards on the ground, while losing 22. The Jackets gained 133 yards rushing and lost 22.

Several times Moorefield recovered fumbles deep in Romney territory, but found the strong Pioneer forward wall virtually unpenetrable.

Defensive standouts for the Romney eleven were Paul Heavner, who recovered several enemy fumbles, Kenny Turner and Harold Carl.

In the other loop opener beginning the 28th season of the WMI circuit, Beall High's Mountaineers broke a tie in the final quarter to edge the Agriculture High School at Flintstone, 4-2.

The Meyersmen broke the game open with two more goals in the third stanza when Butch Young took a pass from Jim Wilson to register the third score and then Richard Waddell booted home a penalty goal.

Mt. Savage broke the scoring ice in the third also as George Bishields tallied on a free kick which bounced off the head of Valley's Elsworth Russell.

Flintstone and Beall battled three periods to a 2-2 standoff before Coach Eddie Finzel's Frostburg Mountaineers broke through to push home two goals in the final 10 minutes to win 4-2.

Bill Rowe scored the first goal in the last period and Sweene followed with another to ice the contest.

Beall opened the scoring with goals by Glenn Wilson and Gene Wilson in the first quarter. Flintstone, coached by Orville "Stony" Jackson, came back to knot the count with a pair of goals in the second stanza. Wayne Burgess booted home the first Flintstone tally and Ronnie Shipway followed with the second.

KEYSER, W. Va., Oct. 1—Keyser High's Golden Tornado, pushing over a touchdown in the third quarter to break a tie, knocked Ridgeley High's Blackhawks from the unbeaten list here today with a 14-7 triumph in a Potomac Valley Conference game.

Coach Chester Payne's Hawks, striving for their fourth consecutive triumph, opened the scoring by pushing over the first touchdown in the initial quarter.

Ridgeley took the game's opening kickoff and marched to the 50 where the Hawks were forced to punt. Kenny Hartman's kick was fumbled and Ridgeley recovered on the Keyser 18. A 15-yard clipping penalty moved the pigskin to the Tornado four.

After the first two plays lost a couple of yards, Hartman caught Dick Bobo's pass in the end zone for the six-pointer. Kenny then kicked the point for a 7-0 Ridgeley lead.

Keyser, striving for its first PVC win and third in four games held Ridgeley for downs on the Tornado 17 early in the second period and then marched 83 yards for the tying marker.

A 32-yard pass from Scott Ward to Bob McIlwee highlighted the drive which was climaxed when Ward pitched again to McIlwee in the end zone, the scoring play covering eight yards. Rick Kephart's kick knotted the score at 7-7.

Kephart dove over from the four yard line for the winning score midway in the third quarter.

Keyser took the second half kickoff and drove to the Ridgeley 17 where the Hawks held. Ridgeley, unable to move the ball, punted to the Hawks' 38 and Keyser moved the ball over in six plays for the deciding six-pointer.

Outstanding for Keyser were Roland Raines, Jim Nicol, Dick Shuck, Kephart and McIlwee. Ronnie Nield and Mike Clark were best for the Paynesmen. The lineups:

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 1—A Fort Hill fumble which picked up and raced 55 yards for the winning touchdown in the fourth quarter gave the Martinsburg High School Bulldogs a thrilling 12-6 victory over Fort Hill High's Sentinels here tonight at Cobourn Field.

Teddy Kershner, swift-running right halfback plucked up a Fort Hill back's miscue on the Martinsburg 45 and raced unmolested to the score midway in the fourth period to break a 6-6 deadlock.

Kershner also talled the first Martinsburg touchdown in the third on a scintillating 91-yard ramble down the side lines in which he reversed his field from the right to left side as he eluded clutching Fort Hill tacklers.

Fort Hill's only six-pointer came shortly after the first Martinsburg tally when Jerry Landis raced the final eight yards on a keep play to climax a drive of 64 yards for Coach Bill Hahn's Sentinels.

The opening half was scoreless as the two teams battled back and forth. Coach John Cobourn's Bulldogs took the opening kickoff and drove to three first downs in the first period but did not threaten.

Late in the second period Martinsburg took the ball on the Bulldog 31 and drove to the Sentinels 21 with three completed passes by Dick Lewis sparking the march. However, Jack Andrews intercepted another aerial to end the threat, returning the ball to the Fort Hill 47 from the Sentinels' 10. John Kesler then brought the throng of 4,000 to its feet with a 49 yard romp to the Martinsburg 11, following the loss of seven yards on the first play from scrimmage. Kesler then dove to the Martinsburg seven as the half ended.

After an exchange of punts in the third quarter Bob Andrews kicked from the Fort Hill 36 to Kershner on the Bulldogs 9 and the fleet veteran halfback outraced the entire Sentinels team to score for the Bulldogs. A bad pass from center spoiled the extra point effort.

Following the kickoff Fort Hill marched to its touchdown but Landis' kick for the lead point was blocked.

Midway in the final stanza a Martinsburg drive was stalled when Alderton intercepted a pass but on the ensuing sequence of plays from the Fort Hill 45 Jim Crawford fumbled and Kershner plucked up the free oval to run 55 yards for the winning score. The lineups:

Beall "B" Team Edges Southern

Beall High's School's "B" football team defeated Southern High School from Oakland last night in Frostburg, 7-6, in a nip-and-tuck game witnessed by a crowd of about 2,000 fans.

The Mountaineers scored first in the third quarter when Paul Wilson counted on a reverse. The touchdown came moments after a score had been called back because of a penalty. Bob Wolford, the Beall "B" fullback, ran across the extra point which ultimately proved the margin of victory.

Beall's coach, Ray Hull, saw his team's margin sliced in the final quarter when Toby Colaw registered a touchdown on a 20-yard end run. The extra point try was unsuccessful and that was the Frostburger's margin of victory.

A sizeable Garrett County delegation from the Oakland area and the Southern High School band journeyed to Frostburg for last night's game. It was the second contest for the Garrett County school which started football only this season. Southern tied West Virginia Deaf, 6-6, in its opening game.

The score by quarters:

BEALL "B" .... 0 0 7 0—7

SOUTHERN .... 0 0 0 6—6

KEYSER, W. Va., Oct. 1—Most of the football teams in the West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference will see action today, including Potomac State College, of Keyser, which takes on a non-conference foe in the Bainbridge Naval Preparatory School.

The contest, the Catamounts' second of the 1954 season, will get under way at 2 p. m. (EST) at Staymen Field. Potomac State will be seeking its first win.

The Naps, whose personnel includes men from the Army Air Force, Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard preparing for the Naval Academy at Annapolis, arrived in Keyser yesterday.

Other games involving conference teams find West Virginia Wesleyan at Bethany College, Fairmont State at Glenville, Salem College at West Liberty, and Concord College at West Virginia Tech. All of these battles are intra-conference tussles. Non-conference games include Randolph-Macon versus Shepherd and Baldwin-Wallace at Morris Harvey.

Neither team in today's game can boast of any advantage in the weight department. The Sailors hold an edge on the line, 193 to 187, but the Cats will present a heavier average in the backfield, 172 to 164.

By TED TROXELL

A favored Hagerstown High School eleven staged a dramatic finish against the undefeated Allegany Campers last night at Fort Hill Stadium and managed to salvage a 13-13 tie after nearly everyone except a few diehard Hub fans had given up hope for Mel Henry's team.

Lochbaum Goes Over

The Hubs, moving slowly but surely to the Allegany goal, picked up six first downs in their touchdown march which was climaxed by fullback Charlie Lochbaum's dive into the end zone from the four-yard line.

Lightning, in the person of Donald "Ducky" Perdew, struck moments later, as the speedy Allegany fullback raced 54 yards for an Allegany TD.

"Bucky" Rice had returned Poffenberger's kickoff to his own 46-yard line after hauling it in on the 16. On the first play from scrimmage following the kick, Perdew took a pitchout from quarterback Allan Haines, cut wide to his right, nearly stepped out of bounds, and then completely reversed his field, galloping 54 yards for the score.

Campers Strike Again

With only seconds remaining in the first half, the Campers struck again, following Barry Sterner's recovery of Roy Stotler's fumble on the Allegany 37.

The crucial infraction occurred late in the final quarter. Following a punt return, Hagerstown's Dave Wachter threw two passes, the second of which was grabbed by Alco's Bob Fletcher. However, one of the out-of-town officials, assigned to last night's game, detected one of the Campers offside and the Hubs retained possession of the ball.

Two plays later, Wachter hit Stotler with a 38-yard aerial, placing the ball on the Allegany seven. After three straight thrusts at the goal failed, Lochbaum, on fourth down, bulled his way over from the two-yard line.

4,000 Fans See Game

By this time, many of the nearly 4,000 fans who witnessed the contest had poured out of the stands onto the sidelines. The screaming throng seemed to have no effect on Lochbaum, as he proceeded to boot the ball through the uprights for the point which meant the difference between victory and defeat for the two rivals. The final TD came with just 30 seconds showing on the scoreboard clock.

Johnson, Ronnie Leib, Eddie Alderman, and Sterner stood out on the Camper line, while Perdew, Cecil, and Fletcher, who replaced Rice when the latter was injured, shone in the Camper backfield.

Biggs and Poffenberger were the Hubs' defensive standouts, while Wachter, Lochbaum, and Ringer stood out in the backfield.

INDIANS SCRAMBLE FOR FOUL FLY—In the second inning of the third World Series game yesterday at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium Whitey Lockman of the New York Giants hit a foul ball beyond first base and this camera sequence records three Cleveland Indians trying to make the out. Typical of the trouble they had fielding all day the out was finally made when second baseman Bobby Avila caught the ball and took a spill. Indians' rightfielder Dave Philley and hatless Avila come under the ball and Avila finally gets it as Philley does a dance to get away. Avila falls down but holds onto the ball as Vic Wertz (23) tries to stay out of the way. With the Giants holding a commanding 3-0 lead as the result of yesterday's 6-2 triumph Manager Al Lopez of the Indians will come back with Bob Lemon as his pitching choice today. Pilot Leo Durocher of the Giants has nominated Don Liddle, little southpaw with a 9-4 record. Lemon lost the first game when Dusty Rhodes smacked a three-run homer in the 10th.

LaSalle Travels To Spring Grove For Sunday Tilt

Meets Unbeaten Grid Team In St. Francis

LaSalle High's Explorers will test an unbeaten and unscored upon eleven Sunday afternoon when they travel to Spring Grove, Pa., to meet St. Francis Prep's Hill toppers in a 2 p. m. struggle.

Coach Norman Geatz will take approximately 30 players to Spring Grove by automobile, leaving early Sunday morning for the Pennsylvania town.

St. Francis, coached this year by Robert Long who was assistant to Len Zataveski last season, takes an unblemished record into tomorrow's contest. The Hilltoppers defeated strong Lansdale Catholic High School of Philadelphia, 7-0, in their opener two weeks ago and last week downed Calvert Hall of Baltimore, 19-0.

St. Francis, which is populated by many foreign students and closes early in November for the Christmas holidays, plans to hold a Homecoming Day celebration Sunday with the LaSalle-Hilltoppers football game as the highlight of the day's festivities.

The Spring Grove eleven will wear maroon and white uniforms. Two linesmen, Gino Alberici, senior guard, and Leon Matthews, senior center, are co-captains for the Hilltoppers.

LaSalle, defeated last week by Fort Hill, 27-7, will be seeking its third win of the campaign against the Spring Grove crew. The Explorers, with co-captains Ricky Harris and Joe Conroy leading the way, have defeated Bedford High's Bisons 6-0 and Petersburg, W. Va., High, 21-0.

Geatz said last night he expects to start Michael Dougherty and Phil Geatz at ends, Dennis Drumm and Bill Dove at tackles, Harris and Edward Fagan at guards, John Blake at center, with Conroy at quarter, Ed Bush and Ken Lowery at the halves and Harold Hudson at fullback in the backfield.

Schute's Roofers Maintain Dux Lead

Queen City Dairy went into a tie for the runnerup spot by virtue of a 2-1 decision over the last place Super Concrete Company. In the other match C&A Gas Company took a 2-1 win from McIntyre's Grocery.

High scorers were G. Eyler, McIntyre's, 219-591; G. Sachs, C&A, 232-533! F. Oss, Queen City, 200-493; G. Grapes, Super Concrete, 217-493; T. McGeady, Schute's, 198-459; and J. Bruner, Baltimore Pike, 164-456. The standings:

Coach Wesley Abrams, in his first season at the helm of the Romney High Pioneers, kept his coaching slate clean yesterday, as the Pioneers edged the Moorefield Yellowjackets, 6-0 in a hard-fought contest at Romney.

It was Romney's fourth straight win of the 1954 season and second in the Potomac Valley Conference, while the Yellowjackets' loss left them with a season record of two wins and one loss. Coach Johnny Paugh's eleven, which had previously been unscored upon, has a record of one win and one loss in the PVC.

The only score of the game came in the first period and was set up when Roland Shanholtz, Pioneer halfback, recovered a Moorefield fumble on the Yellowjackets' 25-yard line.

On the first play from scrimmage following the recovered fumble, Shanholtz lateraled to Emory Landis, who raced 25 yards for the touchdown. John Smith's attempt for the extra point was no good.

Bean, Moorefield quarterback, filled the air with passes, but his receivers were able to grab only five of 24, for a total of 33 yards. Romney, on the other hand, completed three of four aerials for 30 yards.

The home team also outshone its opponents in rushing, reeling off 307 yards on the ground, while losing 22. The Jackets gained 133 yards rushing and lost 22.

Several times Moorefield recovered fumbles deep in Romney territory, but found the strong Pioneer forward wall virtually unpenetrable.

Valley High's Black Knights opened defense of their Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League title yesterday by walloping Mt. Savage's Braves, 5-1, on the Lonaconing school's new playing field.

In the other loop opener beginning the 28th season of the WMI circuit, Beall High's Mountaineers broke a tie in the final quarter to edge the Agriculture High School at Flintstone, 4-2.

The Meyersmen broke the game open with two more goals in the third stanza when Butch Young took a pass from Jim Wilson to register the third score and then Richard Waddell booted home a penalty goal.

Mt. Savage broke the scoring ice in the third also as George Bishields tallied on a free kick which bounced off the head of Valley's Elsworth Russell.

Flintstone and Beall battled three periods to a 2-2 standoff before Coach Eddie Finzel's Frostburg Mountaineers broke through to push home two goals in the final 10 minutes to win 4-2.

Bill Rowe scored the first goal in the last period and Sweene followed with another to ice the contest.

Beall opened the scoring with goals by Glenn Wilson and Gene Wilson in the first quarter. Flintstone, coached by Orville "Stony" Jackson, came back to knot the count with a pair of goals in the second stanza. Wayne Burgess booted home the first Flintstone tally and Ronnie Shipway followed with the second.

KEYSER, W. Va., Oct. 1—Keyser High's Golden Tornado, pushing over a touchdown in the third quarter to break a tie, knocked Ridgeley High's Blackhawks from the unbeaten list here today with a 14-7 triumph in a Potomac Valley Conference game.

Coach Chester Payne's Hawks, striving for their fourth consecutive triumph, opened the scoring by pushing over the first touchdown in the initial quarter.

Ridgeley took the game's opening kickoff and marched to the 50 where the Hawks were forced to punt. Kenny Hartman's kick was fumbled and Ridgeley recovered on the Keyser 18. A 15-yard clipping penalty moved the pigskin to the Tornado four.

After the first two plays lost a couple of yards, Hartman caught Dick Bobo's pass in the end zone for the six-pointer. Kenny then kicked the point for a 7-0 Ridgeley lead.

Keyser, striving for its first PVC win and third in four games held Ridgeley for downs on the Tornado 17 early in the second period and then marched 83 yards for the tying marker.

A 32-yard pass from Scott Ward to Bob McIlwee highlighted the drive which was climaxed when Ward pitched again to McIlwee in the end zone, the scoring play covering eight yards. Rick Kephart's kick knotted the score at 7-7.

Kephart dove over from the four yard line for the winning score midway in the third quarter.

Keyser took the second half kickoff and drove to the Ridgeley 17 where the Hawks held. Ridgeley, unable to move the ball, punted to the Hawks' 38 and Keyser moved the ball over in six plays for the deciding six-pointer.

Outstanding for Keyser were Roland Raines, Jim Nicol, Dick Shuck, Kephart and McIlwee. Ronnie Nield and Mike Clark were best for the Paynesmen. The lineups:

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 1—A Fort Hill fumble which picked up and raced 55 yards for the winning touchdown in the fourth quarter gave the Martinsburg High School Bulldogs a thrilling 12-6 victory over Fort Hill High's Sentinels here tonight at Cobourn Field.

Teddy Kershner, swift-running right halfback plucked up a Fort Hill back's miscue on the Martinsburg 45 and raced unmolested to the score midway in the fourth period to break a 6-6 deadlock.

Kershner also talled the first Martinsburg touchdown in the third on a scintillating 91-yard ramble down the side lines in which he reversed his field from the right to left side as he eluded clutching Fort Hill tacklers.

Fort Hill's only six-pointer came shortly after the first Martinsburg tally when Jerry Landis raced the final eight yards on a keep play to climax a drive of 64 yards for Coach Bill Hahn's Sentinels.

The opening half was scoreless as the two teams battled back and forth. Coach John Cobourn's Bulldogs took the opening kickoff and drove to three first downs in the first period but did not threaten.

Late in the second period Martinsburg took the ball on the Bulldog 31 and drove to the Sentinels 21 with three completed passes by Dick Lewis sparking the march. However, Jack Andrews intercepted another aerial to end the threat, returning the ball to the Fort Hill 47 from the Sentinels' 10. John Kesler then brought the throng of 4,000 to its feet with a 49 yard romp to the Martinsburg 11, following the loss of seven yards on the first play from scrimmage. Kesler then dove to the Martinsburg seven as the half ended.

After an exchange of punts in the third quarter Bob Andrews kicked from the Fort Hill 36 to Kershner on the Bulldogs 9 and the fleet veteran halfback outraced the entire Sentinels team to score for the Bulldogs. A bad pass from center spoiled the extra point effort.

Following the kickoff Fort Hill marched to its touchdown but Landis' kick for the lead point was blocked.

Midway in the final stanza a Martinsburg drive was stalled when Alderton intercepted a pass but on the ensuing sequence of plays from the Fort Hill 45 Jim Crawford fumbled and Kershner plucked up the free oval to run 55 yards for the winning score. The lineups:

Beall "B" Team Edges Southern

Beall High's School's "B" football team defeated Southern High School from Oakland last night in Frostburg, 7-6, in a nip-and-tuck game witnessed by a crowd of about 2,000 fans.

The Mountaineers scored first in the third quarter when Paul Wilson counted on a reverse. The touchdown came moments after a Southern TD had been called back because of a penalty. Bob Wolford, the Beall "B" fullback, ran across the extra point which ultimately proved the margin of victory.

Beall's coach, Ray Hull, saw his team's margin sliced in the final quarter when Toby Colaw registered a touchdown on a 20-yard end run. The extra point try was unsuccessful and that was the Frostburger's margin of victory.

A sizeable Garrett County delegation from the Oakland area and the Southern High School band journeyed to Frostburg for last night's game. It was the second contest for the Garrett County school which started football only this season. Southern tied West Virginia Deaf, 6-6, in its opening game.

The score by quarters:

BEALL "B"	0	0	7	0—7
SOUTHERN	0	0	0	6—6

The contest, the Catamounts' second of the 1954 season, will get under way at 2 p. m. (EST) at Staymen Field. Potomac State will be seeking its first win.

The Naps, whose personnel includes men from the Army Air Force, Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard preparing for the Naval Academy at Annapolis, arrived in Keyser yesterday.

Other games involving conference teams find West Virginia Wesleyan at Bethany College, Fairmont State at Glenville, Salem College at West Liberty, and Concord College at West Virginia Tech. All of these battles are intra-conference tussles. Non-conference games include Randolph-Macon versus Shepherd and Baldwin-Wallace at Morris Harvey.

Neither team in today's game can boast of any advantage in the weight department. The Sailors hold an edge on the line, 193 to 187, but the Cats will present a heavier average in the backfield, 172 to 164.

Tribe On Brink Of Disaster As Giants Cop 3rd Series Win

Gomez, Dusty Rhodes Shine In 6-2 Victory

Pinch Hitter Again Delivers In Clutch, Wertz Belts Homer

CLEVELAND, Oct. 1 (AP)—Pinch-hitter Dusty Rhodes came through again and Willie Mays started hitting as the alert New York Giants shoved the shoddy-fielding Cleveland Indians to the edge of the cliff with a third straight World Series victory.

Hoyt Wilhelm strode from Manager Leo Durocher's well-stocked bullpen with his puzzling knuckler to nail down a 6-2 New York triumph when Puerto Rican Ruben Gomez weakened in the eighth after a blazing seven-inning job.

Rhodes Delivers Again

Rhodes, the spectacular clutch hitter who won the first two for the inspired National League champs, rose from the bench to deliver a key two-run pinch single in the third, tying a series record set by the Yanks' Bobby Brown in 1947. It mattered little that he went down swinging the last two times up and his gaudy 1.000 batting average melted to .667.

When The Duster ripped Mike Garcia's first pitch into right field to chase home Don Mueller and Mays, the Giants had opened up a 3-0 lead. They never were in danger of being caught until the eighth when Wilhelm applied the stopper.

The New Yorkers now are in a position where another triumph tomorrow would close out the Series and make them the first National League team to win the World Series title since the St. Louis Cardinals did it in 1946. Don Liddle, small lefthander with a 9-4 record, has been chosen to pitch for the Giants by Durocher.

There was no doubt about the Cleveland flinger. Bob Lemon, a rightie beaten in the first game, was named by Manager Al Lopez in the dressing room today.

Today's crowd of 71,555, held down by a noon threat of rain and the gnawing fear that Durocher's Dandies might be on the way to a four-straight sweep, didn't have much to cheer about until Vic Wertz broke Gomez' shutout bid with a 375-foot homer over the chicken-wire fence in right field in the seventh.

In the eighth the Tribe showed signs of real life when Bill Glynn's pinch double and a wild throw by shortstop Al Dark gave them another run. After Gomez walked Bobby Avila on a 3-1 pitch, Durocher marched to the box.

Mows Indians Down

Wilhelm had been throwing briefly in the bullpen and needed no extra call for duty. Facing the heart of the Indians' power, he made Larry Doby ground out to first base and fanned the dangerous Wertz with his specialty.

Riding a 6-2 lead, Wilhelm mowed the Indians down in order in the ninth, striking out Hank Majeski and getting Dave Philley and pinch hitter Dave Pope on hard grounders to second baseman Davey Williams.

Giant fans would have a tough time, singling out a hero for this workmanlike job. There were many. Gomez allowed only four hits in seven and a third inning. Wilhelm gave up none. Rhodes did it again as a pinch hitter and Mays, hitless in the first two games, broke out with three singles to send his average to .300.

With this third emphatic victory, there was a definite threat of a clean sweep by the Giants over the team that set a new American League record by winning 111 games while dethroning the Yankees.

The last "four straight" series was in 1950 when the Yanks blitzed the Philadelphia Phillies. The Giants did it once in 1922 against the Yanks although that set also included a tie game.

Mueller hit a hopper to Bobby Avila who forced Lockman with a peg to George Strickland. Trying for the double play, Strickland's poor throw got away from Wertz. It was scored as an error for the shortstop, letting Mueller go all the way to second.

Mays Gets First Hit

Mays delivered Mueller pronto with his first hit, a single to right that Dave Philley let bounce off his glove and chest. If he had fielded it cleanly he might have had a play on Mueller at home.

Once again the Giants went after the first ball in the third. Dark lofted a single into short center field that Larry Doby couldn't reach and Mueller slapped a hit-and-run single through the shortstop hole vacated by Strickland who was moving toward second.

Dark was trapped and run down on Mays' tap but he delayed the killing long enough to let Mueller reach third and Mays get to second. Lopez' strategy called for an intentional pass to Hank Thompson.

Then off the bench came Mr. Rhodes, that raw-boned slugger from the Alabama farm country. The Duster simply loves that first pitch. He drove Garcia's first offering to right and Mueller and Mays scored. It was the third straight time Rhodes had batted for Monte Irvin and the third time he connected.

With Thompson on third base, the squeeze was on and Williams bunted to the mound. Garcia had no chance to get Thompson but he could have had Williams at first. He hesitated, undecided whether to throw to Wertz or Avila covering the bag. When he made up his mind his throw was poor. The crowd groaned.

Record Player Pool

It goes without saying that no club ever bounced back after losing the first three Series games. Only one team, the 1921 Giants were able to overcome the loss of the first two games. Two teams have recovered from a 3-1 deficit, Pittsburgh in 1925 and the Boston Red Sox in 1903.

Although the crowd was below expectations, the net receipts set a Series high of $464,155.30. The oldmark was set last year for the Sept. 30 Yankee-Dodger game at Yankee Stadium—$387,574.74.

A record player pool was a certainty with $553,920.05 already in the kitty. The 1953 Series set the high of $691,341.53, sure to go by the boards with tomorrow's take. Each winning player probably will get about $10,000 and each loser about $8,000, both records.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

Mr. Saturday Night

Milton Berle has now been tabbed with the label "Mr. Tuesday Night." Quite awhile ago, Jackie Gleason was crowned — by the CBS press department — as "Mr. Saturday Night." If you want to get a night for yourself, you better speak up; they're going fast. (Privately, I have taken to referring to Miss Arlene Francis, the "Home" girl, as "Miss Monday Through Friday Morning.")

Anyhow, Mr. Saturday Night has returned for his third season (CBS-TV 8 p. m. EST Saturdays) and his debut made me wonder whether the law of diminishing returns is not going to operate with greater severity in this business than in, say, radio. Mr. Gleason is a very skilled and experienced, to say nothing of hard-working, comedian. His sidekick, Art Carney, is still the best stooge in the business. And I can think of nobody who could play Mr. Gleason's long suffering stage wife with such whiplash authority as Audrey Meadows. Still, I didn't think the Gleason show had the zing and humor to it that it has had in the past. I guess I'm just getting a little tired of the Honeymooners.

It's just possible, too, that Mr. Gleason is overworking the Honeymooners which is just one of his many characterizations. I wish he'd trot out some of the others, especially his Reggie Van Gleason, and maybe even invent new ones. This law of diminishing returns is going to demand that our comics display an inventiveness and fertility never before asked of them. Just possibly, we may have to breed a new race of comedians, more agile of foot and especially more agile of brain, than those who managed quite adequately in the past by having only two or three ideas which lasted them a lifetime.

"On the technical side," it says here in a press release, "Jackie who has been experimenting with camera techniques during the summer months, promises to introduce some new angles on the show." He did, too. The opening bit, all those chorus lovelies kicking their pretty naked legs, was shot from stage level to the second balcony to straight overhead. For the straight overhead shot, the chorus pretties lay down on the floor and made like a flower. It looked like an aquacade without water — or maybe like the band of the University of Southern California at halftime. From that distance, the size of home screens being what they are, a girl has about as much sex appeal as a marching cigaret and is, if anything, a little smaller.

After that, Mr. Gleason strode in in a dinner jacket and made jokes — about his weight (it's up), his writers (they're down) and his show ("we've got a big show for you this year — sort of a tiny spectacular.") Then it went on to the Honeymooners. Gleason here plays an arrogant but fairly bird-brained bus driver, Audrey Meadows, his exasperated wife, and they live in an apartment which is a triumph of squalor.

On this one, Gleason had been asked to endorse Choosie Choo Choo candy bars on a television show and had the very devil of a time memorizing his lines. ("Driving a bus, you get that old three o'clock lag.") Then he acquired a toothache, and, since he was required to bite into a candy bar during the commercial, this led to more complications and certainly more plot than any comedy sketch ought to have.

I must admit the pay-off scene where Gleason bit into a candy bar, howled with agony, and disrupted his orchestra and the entire show had that manic glee which is Gleason at his best. That particular bit may just end endorsement advertising forever and it must have caused a certain amount of consternation in ad circles. At least, I hope so. Still, it was an awful long time in coming. I think that the Gleason show, with its great talent, could use a few fresh ideas.

High Gun Will Run In Laurel's International Race

LAUREL, Md. Oct. 1 (AP) — At least one of the two United States horses, King Ranch's High Gun, in the Laurel International race Nov. 3 will be unfamiliar with the footing.

High Gun, whose acceptance for the race was announced today, has never raced on the grass over which the mile and a half Laurel contest is decided.

He may get his first trial on it Oct. 16 in the Turf Handicap at Laurel.

The foreign horses against whom High Gun will race customarily run on the grass. His competitors so far are Queen Elizabeth's Landau and F. W. Dennis' King of the Tudors from England and Terren J. S. Gray's Zarathustra from Ireland.

Fishing Outlook Generally Favorable

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 1 (AP)—The weekend outlook for fishing in West Virginia is generally favorable, the Conservation Department reported today.

The department's weekly stream report said all streams in the Eastern Panhandle were low and clear and those of the Northern Panhandle were clear or milky to clear.

The department said particularly good fishing was likely in the Elk River in Braxton County and in Pocahontas County bass streams.

Bucky Harris Named To Pilot Detroit Tigers

Signs One-Year Pact To Lead Young Club

DETROIT, Oct. 1 (AP)—Quiet, easy-going Bucky Harris today was given the delicate task of guiding the Detroit Tigers' "youth movement."

Harris—often called the "ballplayer's manager" because of his mild-mannered ways—was named manager of the Tigers for 1955.

He accepted a one-year contract to succeed Fred Hutchinson, who resigned Thursday after turning down a similar offer.

The 58-year-old Harris, who has been a big league manager 27 years, was fired as manager of the Washington Senators last week. He had managed the Tigers from 1929 to 1933, never finishing higher than fifth place.

"Harris was my first choice because of his ability to handle young players," said Walter Briggs Jr., president of the Tigers.

"That was the main consideration."

Harris, who agreed to terms in a long distance phone call from Washington, termed the present Detroit team as "an interesting one."

With a strong accent on youth, the Tigers have risen from the black depths of 1952, when the team finished in last place for the first and only time in history.

Under Hutchinson, the Tigers climbed to sixth place last year and fifth place this year.

Harris has managed Washington three times. In his first try, he acquired the tag of "Boy Wonder" when he led the Senators to the American League pennant in his first two years in 1924-25. A second baseman, he was a playing manager in those days.

Harris' other peak year was 1947, when he led the New York Yankees to the pennant and a victory in the World Series. But when he finished a close third the following year, he was fired.

Fans Sue Colts For Game Injuries

BALTIMORE, Oct. 1 (AP)—A couple sued the Baltimore Colts for $15,000 today on a claim they were hurt when a football landed in the stands during a game last year.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Holmes said they were injured last Nov. 29 by other spectators rushing for the ball.

Pinch Hitter Again Delivers In Clutch, Wertz Belts Homer

CLEVELAND, Oct. 1 (AP)—Pinch-hitter Dusty Rhodes came through again and Willie Mays started hitting as the alert New York Giants shoved the shoddy-fielding Cleveland Indians to the edge of the cliff with a third straight World Series victory.

Hoyt Wilhelm strode from Manager Leo Durocher's well-stocked bullpen with his puzzling knuckler to nail down a 6-2 New York triumph when Puerto Rican Ruben Gomez weakened in the eighth after a blazing seven-inning job.

Rhodes Delivers Again

Rhodes, the spectacular clutch hitter who won the first two for the inspired National League champs, rose from the bench to deliver a key two-run pinch single in the third, tying a series record set by the Yanks' Bobby Brown in 1947. It mattered little that he went down swinging the last two times up and his gaudy 1.000 batting average melted to .667.

When The Duster ripped Mike Garcia's first pitch into right field to chase home Don Mueller and Mays, the Giants had opened up a 3-0 lead. They never were in danger of being caught until the eighth when Wilhelm applied the stopper.

The New Yorkers now are in a position where another triumph tomorrow would close out the Series and make them the first National League team to win the World Series title since the St. Louis Cardinals did it in 1946. Don Liddle, small lefthander with a 9-4 record, has been chosen to pitch for the Giants by Durocher.

There was no doubt about the Cleveland flinger. Bob Lemon, a rightie beaten in the first game, was named by Manager Al Lopez in the dressing room today.

Today's crowd of 71,555, held down by a noon threat of rain and the gnawing fear that Durocher's Dandies might be on the way to a four-straight sweep, didn't have much to cheer about until Vic Wertz broke Gomez' shutout bid with a 375-foot homer over the chicken-wire fence in right field in the seventh.

In the eighth the Tribe showed signs of real life when Bill Glynn's pinch double and a wild throw by shortstop Al Dark gave them another run. After Gomez walked Bobby Avila on a 3-1 pitch, Durocher marched to the box.

Mows Indians Down

Wilhelm had been throwing briefly in the bullpen and needed no extra call for duty. Facing the heart of the Indians' power, he made Larry Doby ground out to first base and fanned the dangerous Wertz with his specialty.

Riding a 6-2 lead, Wilhelm mowed the Indians down in order in the ninth, striking out Hank Majeski and getting Dave Philley and pinch hitter Dave Pope on hard grounders to second baseman Davey Williams.

Giant fans would have a tough time, singling out a hero for this workmanlike job. There were many. Gomez allowed only four hits in seven and a third inning. Wilhelm gave up none. Rhodes did it again as a pinch hitter and Mays, hitless in the first two games, broke out with three singles to send his average to .300.

With this third emphatic victory, there was a definite threat of a clean sweep by the Giants over the team that set a new American League record by winning 111 games while dethroning the Yankees.

The last "four straight" series was in 1950 when the Yanks blitzed the Philadelphia Phillies. The Giants did it once in 1922 against the Yanks although that set also included a tie game.

Mueller hit a hopper to Bobby Avila who forced Lockman with a peg to George Strickland. Trying for the double play, Strickland's poor throw got away from Wertz. It was scored as an error for the shortstop, letting Mueller go all the way to second.

Mays Gets First Hit

Mays delivered Mueller pronto with his first hit, a single to right that Dave Philley let bounce off his glove and chest. If he had fielded it cleanly he might have had a play on Mueller at home.

Once again the Giants went after the first ball in the third. Dark lofted a single into short center field that Larry Doby couldn't reach and Mueller slapped a hit-and-run single through the shortstop hole vacated by Strickland who was moving toward second.

Dark was trapped and run down on Mays' tap but he delayed the killing long enough to let Mueller reach third and Mays get to second. Lopez' strategy called for an intentional pass to Hank Thompson.

Then off the bench came Mr. Rhodes, that raw-boned slugger from the Alabama farm country. The Duster simply loves that first pitch. He drove Garcia's first offering to right and Mueller and Mays scored. It was the third straight time Rhodes had batted for Monte Irvin and the third time he connected.

With Thompson on third base, the squeeze was on and Williams bunted to the mound. Garcia had no chance to get Thompson but he could have had Williams at first. He hesitated, undecided whether to throw to Wertz or Avila covering the bag. When he made up his mind his throw was poor. The crowd groaned.

Record Player Pool

It goes without saying that no club ever bounced back after losing the first three Series games. Only one team, the 1921 Giants were able to overcome the loss of the first two games. Two teams have recovered from a 3-1 deficit, Pittsburgh in 1925 and the Boston Red Sox in 1903.

Although the crowd was below expectations, the net receipts set a Series high of $464,155.30. The oldmark was set last year for the Sept. 30 Yankee-Dodger game at Yankee Stadium—$387,574.74.

A record player pool was a certainty with $553,920.05 already in the kitty. The 1953 Series set the high of $691,341.53, sure to go by the boards with tomorrow's take. Each winning player probably will get about $10,000 and each loser about $8,000, both records.

Radio And Television

Mr. Saturday Night

Milton Berle has now been tabbed with the label "Mr. Tuesday Night." Quite awhile ago, Jackie Gleason was crowned — by the CBS press department — as "Mr. Saturday Night." If you want to get a night for yourself, you better speak up; they're going fast. (Privately, I have taken to referring to Miss Arlene Francis, the "Home" girl, as "Miss Monday Through Friday Morning.")

Anyhow, Mr. Saturday Night has returned for his third season (CBS-TV 8 p. m. EST Saturdays) and his debut made me wonder whether the law of diminishing returns is not going to operate with greater severity in this business than in, say, radio. Mr. Gleason is a very skilled and experienced, to say nothing of hard-working, comedian. His sidekick, Art Carney, is still the best stooge in the business. And I can think of nobody who could play Mr. Gleason's long suffering stage wife with such whiplash authority as Audrey Meadows. Still, I didn't think the Gleason show had the zing and humor to it that it has had in the past. I guess I'm just getting a little tired of the Honeymooners.

It's just possible, too, that Mr. Gleason is overworking the Honeymooners which is just one of his many characterizations. I wish he'd trot out some of the others, especially his Reggie Van Gleason, and maybe even invent new ones. This law of diminishing returns is going to demand that our comics display an inventiveness and fertility never before asked of them. Just possibly, we may have to breed a new race of comedians, more agile of foot and especially more agile of brain, than those who managed quite adequately in the past by having only two or three ideas which lasted them a lifetime.

"On the technical side," it says here in a press release, "Jackie who has been experimenting with camera techniques during the summer months, promises to introduce some new angles on the show." He did, too. The opening bit, all those chorus lovelies kicking their pretty naked legs, was shot from stage level to the second balcony to straight overhead. For the straight overhead shot, the chorus pretties lay down on the floor and made like a flower. It looked like an aquacade without water — or maybe like the band of the University of Southern California at halftime. From that distance, the size of home screens being what they are, a girl has about as much sex appeal as a marching cigaret and is, if anything, a little smaller.

After that, Mr. Gleason strode in in a dinner jacket and made jokes — about his weight (it's up), his writers (they're down) and his show ("we've got a big show for you this year — sort of a tiny spectacular.") Then it went on to the Honeymooners. Gleason here plays an arrogant but fairly bird-brained bus driver, Audrey Meadows, his exasperated wife, and they live in an apartment which is a triumph of squalor.

On this one, Gleason had been asked to endorse Choosie Choo Choo candy bars on a television show and had the very devil of a time memorizing his lines. ("Driving a bus, you get that old three o'clock lag.") Then he acquired a toothache, and, since he was required to bite into a candy bar during the commercial, this led to more complications and certainly more plot than any comedy sketch ought to have.

I must admit the pay-off scene where Gleason bit into a candy bar, howled with agony, and disrupted his orchestra and the entire show had that manic glee which is Gleason at his best. That particular bit may just end endorsement advertising forever and it must have caused a certain amount of consternation in ad circles. At least, I hope so. Still, it was an awful long time in coming. I think that the Gleason show, with its great talent, could use a few fresh ideas.

High Gun Will Run In Laurel's International Race

LAUREL, Md. Oct. 1 (AP) — At least one of the two United States horses, King Ranch's High Gun, in the Laurel International race Nov. 3 will be unfamiliar with the footing.

High Gun, whose acceptance for the race was announced today, has never raced on the grass over which the mile and a half Laurel contest is decided.

He may get his first trial on it Oct. 16 in the Turf Handicap at Laurel.

The foreign horses against whom High Gun will race customarily run on the grass. His competitors so far are Queen Elizabeth's Landau and F. W. Dennis' King of the Tudors from England and Terren J. S. Gray's Zarathustra from Ireland.

Fishing Outlook Generally Favorable

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 1 (AP)—The weekend outlook for fishing in West Virginia is generally favorable, the Conservation Department reported today.

The department's weekly stream report said all streams in the Eastern Panhandle were low and clear and those of the Northern Panhandle were clear or milky to clear.

The department said particularly good fishing was likely in the Elk River in Braxton County and in Pocahontas County bass streams.

Bucky Harris Named To Pilot Detroit Tigers

Signs One-Year Pact To Lead Young Club

DETROIT, Oct. 1 (AP)—Quiet, easy-going Bucky Harris today was given the delicate task of guiding the Detroit Tigers' "youth movement."

Harris—often called the "ball-player's manager" because of his mild-mannered ways—was named manager of the Tigers for 1955.

He accepted a one-year contract to succeed Fred Hutchinson, who resigned Thursday after turning down a similar offer.

The 58-year-old Harris, who has been a big league manager 27 years, was fired as manager of the Washington Senators last week. He had managed the Tigers from 1929 to 1933, never finishing higher than fifth place.

"Harris was my first choice because of his ability to handle young players," said Walter Briggs Jr., president of the Tigers.

"That was the main consideration."

Harris, who agreed to terms in a long distance phone call from Washington, termed the present Detroit team as "an interesting one."

With a strong accent on youth, the Tigers have risen from the black depths of 1952, when the team finished in last place for the first and only time in history.

Under Hutchinson, the Tigers climbed to sixth place last year and fifth place this year.

Harris has managed Washington three times. In his first try, he acquired the tag of "Boy Wonder" when he led the Senators to the American League pennant in his first two years in 1924-25. A second baseman, he was a playing manager in those days.

Harris' other peak year was 1947, when he led the New York Yankees to the pennant and a victory in the World Series. But when he finished a close third the following year, he was fired.

Fans Sue Colts For Game Injuries

BALTIMORE, Oct. 1 (AP)—A couple sued the Baltimore Colts for $15,000 today on a claim they were hurt when a football landed in the stands during a game last year.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Holmes said they were injured last Nov. 29 by other spectators rushing for the ball.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 1—(INS)—If you've read "The Wilder Shores Of Love," the story of an aristocratic French girl who becomes the sultana of Turkey in the 18th century, you'll see the possibilities that MGM saw in it when they bought the book.

Elizabeth Taylor gets the delectable role of Aimee Dubucz De Rivery. Born in Martinique, Aimee was a schoolmate of Josephine Bonaparte. She was captured by Barbary pirates while returning from France, and became the wife of one sultan and the mother of the next.

When I tell you that Sam Zimbalist, who produced "Beau Brummell" with Liz, "Quo Vadis" and "Solomon's Mine," is the producer of "The Wilder Shores Of Love," you'll know that this is set for special treatment.

While Mario Lanza was rehearsing for the Chrysler TV show he talked more than I've heard him talk since he first had his big success.

He said, "I love TV because it's controlled confusion and you don't get too excited."

He should talk to Red Skelton and others who have almost died from television.

Mario is down to 210 pounds and thinner than he has ever been, but very wisely he's not going to make himself sick and take off too much weight.

I hope this means the comeback of Lanza and that he will realize how important it is for him not to get so emotionally upset.

I wouldn't have missed a week like this past one—nor would I give a nickel for another such a busy, emotional, exciting seven days.

I felt like the principal in a detective story when we hid Barbara Bebe Lyon and her brother Richard from their mother to keep them out of sight for the Ralph Edward's "This Is Your Life" TV show. It took a lot of doing.

It got to the point where Bebe thought I was tired of her company because I was disappearing so often. She and Ben have been my house guests for six weeks and if the tension had gone on another day Ben would have been a nervous wreck.

Then, there was Judy Garland's opening; the Helen Hayes opening at the New Huntington Hartford Theatre; the big Chrysler party—and well, I'm going to put on my bedroom slippers and retire into a corner.

What more can you say about Judy Garland in "A Star Is Born" that hasn't already been said.

I can only repeat that Judy cannot be judged by other lesser personalities. She's high strung; she gets nervous and is excitable and can only work a certain number of hours a day. That's because she gives everything she's got. All that Jack Warner was wise enough to understand.

It's a great thrill to see a star that many people said could never make a comeback, have such a triumph. Sid Luft has been good for her. He's given her courage and he stood right back of her when the going was rough.

I was very happy to be the first to receive Judy's album of songs from "A Star Is Born." Her friendship and loyalty has lasted through the years since she posed for me when she was a little girl, and I took the pictures of her and Mickey Rooney on tour with me.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

"Helen Of Troy's" Jacques Sernas, here for "Jump Into Hell," is hospitalized with a serious virus attack.

Mel Ferrer's ex-wife, Frances, has been having dates with Howard Warshaw, modern painter who lives here. He is the only one Mrs. Ferrer has been out with since she and Mel parted.

Van Heflin will be footprinted in the forecourt of Grauman's Chinese Theatre the same night his movie "Woman's World" opens at the theatre.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

What makes one woman attractive, the next ordinary? Habits! Yes, habits can make or mar anyone's good looks and good grooming.

Some women are born more beautiful than others, of course. But there is absolutely no woman in this world who can't be attractive and charming. It's a matter of substituting for bad habits those that bear dividends of a "plus" nature. I want to remind you of a few habits of both types today.

Break this: A quick splash with soap and water an occasional rub-off with cleanser. Do this: If your skin is oily, scrub with soap and water three times a day or twice with soap and water, between times with astringent; for dry skin, too, regular cleansing is essential.

Mar Or Make?

Break this: Snacking between meals on candy and cake. (That's what makes little blemishes and big bulges!) Do this: Let your in-between tidbits consist of fresh fruit, milk, or carrot sticks—good for the face, and the figure.

Break this: Letting hands fend for themselves. Do this: Use cream, oil, or lotion liberally and often; always, after washing your hands.

Break this: The lazy habit of wearing lingerie, stockings, gloves, collars, and cuffs again and again. Do this: Even if the soil doesn't show, it's there, so a nightly rinse is in order; take a brushful of suds to sturdy garments on which soil is apparent.

Break this: Picking at nails and cuticle—here's a jittery habit that says you've not much control over yourself, nor much fastidiousness. Do this: Schedule a weekly manicure. After washing, drying and lotioning hands, push cuticle back with towel or orange stick. Rub nails nightly with oil. Use polish as a protector to prevent splitting and chipping.

Beauty Bonuses

Break this: Letting hair grow out as it will. Do this: Snip off split ends for yourself (you can learn to do it) or have a hairdresser shape a cut for you that will allow doing away with unruly ends.

Break this: Leaving makeup on when you go to bed. Do this: Take it all off, when you need repairs (a total change makes for a fresher face) and definitely remove every smidgin of makeup before bedtime.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

What makes one woman attractive, the next ordinary? Habits! Yes, habits can make or mar anyone's good looks and good grooming.

Some women are born more beautiful than others, of course. But there is absolutely no woman in this world who can't be attractive and charming. It's a matter of substituting for bad habits those that bear dividends of a "plus" nature. I want to remind you of a few habits of both types today.

Break this: A quick splash with soap and water an occasional rub-off with cleanser. Do this: If your skin is oily, scrub with soap and water three times a day or twice with soap and water, between times with astringent; for dry skin, too, regular cleansing is essential.

Mar Or Make?

Break this: Snacking between meals on candy and cake. (That's what makes little blemishes and big bulges!) Do this: Let your in-between tidbits consist of fresh fruit, milk, or carrot sticks—good for the face, and the figure.

Break this: Letting hands fend for themselves. Do this: Use cream, oil, or lotion liberally and often; always, after washing your hands.

Break this: The lazy habit of wearing lingerie, stockings, gloves, collars, and cuffs again and again. Do this: Even if the soil doesn't show, it's there, so a nightly rinse is in order; take a brushful of suds to sturdy garments on which soil is apparent.

Break this: Picking at nails and cuticle—here's a jittery habit that says you've not much control over yourself, nor much fastidiousness. Do this: Schedule a weekly manicure. After washing, drying and lotioning hands, push cuticle back with towel or orange stick. Rub nails nightly with oil. Use polish as a protector to prevent splitting and chipping.

Beauty Bonuses

Break this: Letting hair grow out as it will. Do this: Snip off split ends for yourself (you can learn to do it) or have a hairdresser shape a cut for you that will allow doing away with unruly ends.

Break this: Leaving makeup on when you go to bed. Do this: Take it all off, when you need repairs (a total change makes for a fresher face) and definitely remove every smidgin of makeup before bedtime.

YOUR STEPS TO A SUCCESSFUL CAREER

It tells you how to make that important "good impression" to get your job . . . reveals secrets on how to hold your job. See how easy it is to choose a suitable wardrobe. DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

AXYDLBAAXR

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Neighbors Sue Yard Operator In LaVale Area

Suit was docketed in Circuit Court yesterday against Abraham Feldstein, 330 Avirett Avenue, in which the court is being asked to restrain him from operating a junk yard in LaVale near the Fire Hall.

Plaintiffs in the suit are Raymond L. Kammauf and his wife, Anne C. Kammauf, who reside on Route 40 near the junk yard and Gerald L. Barb and his wife, Alpha M. Barb, of Braddock Farms section, which is also near the junk yard.

It was stated that Feldstein purchased a tract of land along the now abandoned Western Maryland Railway tracts in 1939. He used the land to store machinery and equipment for many years. It is claimed that about six months ago he started to expand the yard and in so doing has created a health hazard.

The plaintiffs, represented by W. Earle Cobey, state the area is a substantial residential section and the value of property is being cut by the manner in which the junk yard is operated. It is claimed wire and other material is burned to obtain the metal in the items and that a black soot has coated properties in the neighborhood.

It was also alleged that the junk yard is a breeding place for rats and mosquitoes. Various metal articles are unloaded at all hours of the day and night, disturbing the sleep of residents nearby and the county road which runs adjacent to the yard is often blocked by Feldstein's trucks, it was also stated.

The operation of the junk yard, which the plaintiffs say has no county license, is a health hazard, it is charged. The plaintiffs also cited the finding of Feldstein guilty on Trial Magistrates Court several months ago in connection with his operation of the junk yard. This case is pending a hearing in Circuit Court on an appeal from the magistrate's decision by Feldstein.

Railroads' Last-Hour Rally Sends Stock Market Ahead

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP)—A rally in the railroads in the final hour today sent the stock market ahead.

Most of the day was spent with a broadly mixed price pattern dominating quiet trading.

A few individual issues made unusually strong gains on corporate announcements. Borg-Warner closed up 7½ at 103 on the strength of a proposed three-for-one split. Bell Aircraft was up 3⅝ at 46⅞ as the directors proposed a two-for-one split.

Mengel, involved in a merger deal, headed the most active list up 3⅝ at 29¾ on 61,100 shares. It was followed by Tide Water Associated Oil up ⅞ at 25, Celanese up ⅜ at 22¾, Bayuk Cigars up ⅝ at 11¾, and Mission Development up ½ at 21⅜.

Baltimore & Ohio, the first to come to life in the carrier group as the rally started, was sixth most active up 1¼ at 26¼. Improvement in B&O came after announcement of plans to sell its holdings in Southwestern Construction Co. to Southern Railway.

Ryan Attacks Job Insecurity

Edward J. Ryan, Democratic candidate for Congress from Maryland's Sixth District, moved through Montgomery County Thursday bidding for the federal worker vote by promising to fight to give them job security.

"I believe career workers should be absolutely protected in their jobs," the Frostburg attorney said. "This Republican administration has kicked them out."

Ryan said his opponent, Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, of Bethesda, voted to give the administration more firing authority. This was an apparent reference to a 1953 money bill broadening the Justice Department's dismissal power, which passed the House by a heavy majority.

He attacked the tidelands oil decision as a Republican "giveaway," assailed lay-offs of government career workers and Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.), and called for an increase in federal income tax exemptions. But he shied away from a personal attack on President Eisenhower.

Ryan called the President "sincere, but misguided," and added that the only constructive legislation passed by the last Congress was pushed through with Democratic help.

Republicans sneaked in two years ago because the voters had taken Democratic social reforms for granted, Ryan said. But the tide now is swinging back to the Democrats because the Republican Party "has not played fair with the American people," he said.

Williams Resigns Fort Hill Post

Gordon F. Williams of Park Heights, has resigned his position as instrumental music instructor at Fort Hill High School, according to Victor D. Heisey, principal.

Williams has accepted a similar position in a high school in Bernardsville, N. J.

He came here two years ago and in connection with the instrumental music program at Fort Hill was director of its junior and senior bands and the orchestra.

For a year and a half, he was director of the Cumberland Choral Society.

Heisey said a successor to Williams has not been named by the Board of Education.

Daily Bridge Lesson

KID WITH A NEW TOY

SOME ambitious bridge students are a good deal like a young kid with a brand new toy whenever they learn something about the game for the first time. Just as the little boy is tempted to use his hammer on everything within reach, so the contract addict is prone to make indiscriminate use of a new bidding or playing gadget. That is so with a device like the "Bath coup," whereby the declarer holding an ace-jack-small of a suit, purposely gives up the first trick if the king is led, in the hope that the suit will be repeated, giving him two tricks in it.

	♠ K 8 5 ♥ 4 3 ♦ A 9 7 6 4 ♣ K 10 4
♠ Q J 9 ♥ K Q 10 7 5 ♦ K 10 ♣ Q 7 2	N W E S	♠ A 10 4 2 ♥ 8 6 ♦ 8 3 2 ♣ 8 6 5 3
	♠ 7 6 3 ♥ A J 9 2 ♦ Q J 5 ♣ A J 9

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1 ♥	Pass	Pass	Dbl.
Pass	2 ♦	Pass	2 NT
Pass	3 NT

Pretty impetuous bidding South did, especially when North's suit in answer to the double was not his unstopped spades. Through good fortune, nevertheless, he should have made the overbid game. The only reason he didn't was that he was intrigued by the simple play he had just learned a while before, the Bath coup. This was the first chance he had seen to use it, so he did.

When West led the heart K, East playing the 6, he put on the 9 to make it seem East had a lower one and was signalling possession of the A. But that didn't fool West into a second heart lead which would have presented South a trick. Instead the spade Q was led, and it resulted in four tricks in a hurry to beat the contract. South felt particularly unhappy when North pointed out he could have built nine tricks without risk by winning the first trick and finessing the minors toward East. A spade lead by that defender could not have hurt him. That would have given him nine tricks without any in spades.

The Bath coup is a dangerous device if some other suit is highly vulnerable in case the leader shifts to it. Of course the ideal time for it is when any shift would build a trick for the declarer.

Your Week-end Question

When you are about ready to bid what seems a sure grand slam vulnerable in No Trumps, what would you do if an opponent, apparently just for fun, doubles your king-asking Blackwood 5-No Trumps bid, which your partner then passes to you?

Neighbors Sue Yard Operator In LaVale Area

Suit was docketed in Circuit Court yesterday against Abraham Feldstein, 330 Avirett Avenue, in which the court is being asked to restrain him from operating a junk yard in LaVale near the Fire Hall.

Plaintiffs in the suit are Raymond L. Kammauf and his wife, Anne C. Kammauf, who reside on Route 40 near the junk yard and Gerald L. Barb and his wife, Alpha M. Barb, of Braddock Farms section, which is also near the junk yard.

It was stated that Feldstein purchased a tract of land along the now abandoned Western Maryland Railway tracts in 1939. He used the land to store machinery and equipment for many years. It is claimed that about six months ago he started to expand the yard and in so doing has created a health hazard.

The plaintiffs, represented by W. Earle Cobey, state the area is a substantial residential section and the value of property is being cut by the manner in which the junk yard is operated. It is claimed wire and other material is burned to obtain the metal in the items and that a black soot has coated properties in the neighborhood.

It was also alleged that the junk yard is a breeding place for rats and mosquitoes. Various metal articles are unloaded at all hours of the day and night, disturbing the sleep of residents nearby and the county road which runs adjacent to the yard is often blocked by Feldstein's trucks, it was also stated.

The operation of the junk yard, which the plaintiffs say has no county license, is a health hazard, it is charged. The plaintiffs also cited the finding of Feldstein guilty on Trial Magistrates Court several months ago in connection with his operation of the junk yard. This case is pending a hearing in Circuit Court on an appeal from the magistrate's decision by Feldstein.

Railroads' Last-Hour Rally Sends Stock Market Ahead

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (AP)—A rally in the railroads in the final hour today sent the stock market ahead.

Most of the day was spent with a broadly mixed price pattern dominating quiet trading.

A few individual issues made unusually strong gains on corporate announcements. Borg-Warner closed up 7½ at 103 on the strength of a proposed three-for-one split. Bell Aircraft was up 3⅝ at 46⅞ as the directors proposed a two-for-one split.

Mengel, involved in a merger deal, headed the most active list up 3⅝ at 29¾ on 61,100 shares. It was followed by Tide Water Associated Oil up ⅞ at 25, Celanese up ⅜ at 22¾, Bayuk Cigars up ⅝ at 11¾, and Mission Development up ½ at 21⅜.

Baltimore & Ohio, the first to come to life in the carrier group as the rally started, was sixth most active up 1¼ at 26¼. Improvement in B&O came after announcement of plans to sell its holdings in Southwestern Construction Co. to Southern Railway.

Ryan Attacks Job Insecurity

Edward J. Ryan, Democratic candidate for Congress from Maryland's Sixth District, moved through Montgomery County Thursday bidding for the federal worker vote by promising to fight to give them job security.

"I believe career workers should be absolutely protected in their jobs," the Frostburg attorney said. "This Republican administration has kicked them out."

Ryan said his opponent, Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde, of Bethesda, voted to give the administration more firing authority. This was an apparent reference to a 1953 money bill broadening the Justice Department's dismissal power, which passed the House by a heavy majority.

He attacked the tidelands oil decision as a Republican "giveaway," assailed lay-offs of government career workers and Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.), and called for an increase in federal income tax exemptions. But he shied away from a personal attack on President Eisenhower.

Ryan called the President "sincere, but misguided," and added that the only constructive legislation passed by the last Congress was pushed through with Democratic help.

Republicans sneaked in two years ago because the voters had taken Democratic social reforms for granted, Ryan said. But the tide now is swinging back to the Democrats because the Republican Party "has not played fair with the American people," he said.

Williams Resigns Fort Hill Post

Gordon F. Williams of Park Heights, has resigned his position as instrumental music instructor at Fort Hill High School, according to Victor D. Heisey, principal.

Williams has accepted a similar position in a high school in Bernardsville, N. J.

He came here two years ago and in connection with the instrumental music program at Fort Hill was director of its junior and senior bands and the orchestra.

For a year and a half, he was director of the Cumberland Choral Society.

Heisey said a successor to Williams has not been named by the Board of Education.

KID WITH A NEW TOY

SOME ambitious bridge students are a good deal like a young kid with a brand new toy whenever they learn something about the game for the first time. Just as the little boy is tempted to use his hammer on everything within reach, so the contract addict is prone to make indiscriminate use of a new bidding or playing gadget. That is so with a device like the "Bath coup," whereby the declarer holding an ace-jack-small of a suit, purposely gives up the first trick if the king is led, in the hope that the suit will be repeated, giving him two tricks in it.

Pass	3 NT

Pretty impetuous bidding South did, especially when North's suit in answer to the double was not his unstopped spades. Through good fortune, nevertheless, he should have made the overbid game. The only reason he didn't was that he was intrigued by the simple play he had just learned a while before, the Bath coup. This was the first chance he had seen to use it, so he did.

When West led the heart K, East playing the 6, he put on the 9 to make it seem East had a lower one and was signalling possession of the A. But that didn't fool West into a second heart lead which would have presented South a trick. Instead the spade Q was led, and it resulted in four tricks in a hurry to beat the contract. South felt particularly unhappy when North pointed out he could have built nine tricks without risk by winning the first trick and finessing the minors toward East. A spade lead by that defender could not have hurt him. That would have given him nine tricks without any in spades.

The Bath coup is a dangerous device if some other suit is highly vulnerable in case the leader shifts to it. Of course the ideal time for it is when any shift would build a trick for the declarer.

Your Week-end Question

When you are about ready to bid what seems a sure grand slam vulnerable in No Trumps, what would you do if an opponent, apparently just for fun, doubles your king-asking Blackwood 5-No Trumps bid, which your partner then passes to you?

Hyde Sees New Coal Program As Help Here

FOA Will Send U. S. Fuel Overseas

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde yesterday announced that he has received Administration assurance that the Western Maryland coal industry will be included in a huge federal coal-buying program.

The Foreign Operations Agency, Hyde said, is setting up the procedure for handling the Administration's program for sending American coal to underdeveloped countries abroad.

This, said Hyde, "will revitalize the whole coal industry in coal-producing areas," and will "be a shot in the arm to Maryland's coal industry."

Although the method of handling the program has not been definitely established, Hyde said, bids will be accepted from all coal-producing areas, including Western Maryland.

Allegany County's coal industry has suffered in recent years from lack of markets due to widespread railroad dieselization and other conversions to other types of fuel.

A recent report of the Maryland Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources points out that, although production from the Pittsburgh (Big Vein) bed in the Georges Creek region has dropped off, there is plenty of coal left in the smaller veins to sustain the industry for a number of years at any peak it has previously reached.

In a speech yesterday before the Republican Women's Club of Frederick County, Hyde accused the "New Dealer" leaders of "political gangsterism" in what he called their "reckless disregard for the facts displayed in the current campaign."

"This irresponsibility is typical of the manner in which the "New Deal" bosses handled the Government during their 20 years in power," Hyde stated. The Congressman, stepping up his campaign for re-election from the Sixth Congressional District, said the "New Deal" leadership is "displaying the same policies in the campaign which the voters overwhelmingly rejected in the elections two years ago."

He charged in a prepared statement that New Dealers, attacking the accomplishments of the 83d Congress, "are completely and deliberately ignoring the facts."

"Taxpayers received more from the recent Congress under Republican control and the inspired leadership of President Eisenhower than ever before," he asserted. Hyde pointed out that for the first time in many years, personal income taxes were reduced and the unpopular excise taxes on many goods, which the consumers had been paying, were reduced or eliminated.

"This marks the end of a trend and the beginning of a time when the working man will be able to spend the fruits of his labor, instead of handing it over to the Government to spend," he said.

Hyde also pointed out that President Eisenhower and his Administration have ended the Korean War and, despite severe provocations, "kept the country out of any new police actions, without losing our world leadership."

Rep. Hyde warned voters against "tying their government in knots" by stalemating both the White House and Congress by turning

Electrification Prizes Offered

Assistant County Agent Joseph A. Weamert this month hopes to be able to select the two 4-H boys with the most outstanding rural electrification demonstrations in this county.

The Maryland Utilities Association is again making available to state 4-H boys and girls an opportunity to win their way to 4-H Club Week at the University of Maryland. The contest allows for as many as 46 winners, two to each county.

The scholarships are for next year's 4-H Club Week at College. The contest closes October 31. Further details may be obtained from Weamert at the Court House.

During October, Martin M. Gordon, soil conservation aide, will speak on conservation at each of the boys' 4-H Club meetings in the county. The first of the meetings will be at the LaVale Club Tuesday night at the home of Kenneth M. Stone, Cash Valley Road.

Weamert also reports that he has rescheduled a meeting with local 4-H Club leaders and members of the Country Boys' 4-H Federation for Wednesday, October 13, at 8 p. m. It originally was planned for Thursday night but was postponed because of poor attendance.

Community Chest Advance Gifts Reach $26,554

Formal Kickoff Dinner Tuesday

Advance gifts subscriptions to the Community Chest campaign have reached $26,554, Lynn C. Lashley, co-chairman of the Advance Gifts Committee, reported yesterday at the committee's fourth report luncheon at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

The subscriptions to date represent a substantial increase over the figure for the same stage of last year's drive, Lashley said.

He pointed out that the 163 people who have subscribed so far this year have promised a total of $640 more than they gave last year.

Lashley, who with Edgar D. Vandegrift heads the committee, urged that all Advance Gifts Committee workers complete their calls as soon as possible and be prepared to give final reports at the Chest kickoff dinner Tuesday at 6:15 at Central YMCA.

An all-out effort, Lashley said, could make the committee's report at the kickoff dinner this year "the finest of any on record."

He pointed out that the committee's goal has been cut to $56,000 as a result of a readjustment of other quotas.

Local labor leaders will launch plans for their part in industrial solicitation at a luncheon-meeting Monday at noon at the Fort Cumberland.

Coy F. Dyer, chairman of the Labor Division of the Community Chest campaign, will preside. Others scheduled to attend are William G. Rice, president of Rubber Workers Local 26, George W. Lucas, president of the Building and Construction Trades Council; Earl L. Snyder, president of Local 1874, TWUA, and business agents of various unions.

Robert E. Barnard, chairman of the Classified Division of the Community Chest, and Thomas W. Miller, campaign director, also will attend.

Barnard also will speak at the monthly meeting of Local 265, Brewery Workers, (CIO), at 8 p. m. Monday at the Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street.

Commissioners Praised For Roads Program

J. William Loar, a Rawlings dairy farmer, appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to commend that body for its county roads program.

Loar said he is called upon to travel over most of the roads in the county in the course of his work and believes most of them are in very good condition.

Let's Grow Up, Not Burn Up Is Fire Prevention Slogan

"Let's grow up-not burn up" is the slogan for Fire Prevention Week which will be observed here next week, according to Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker.

Cumberland, he added, will join with thousands of communities in the United States and Canada in observing Fire Prevention Week.

Fire prevention, the chief said, is a matter of life and death, and every citizen owes it to himself, his family and his community to think and act fire-safe, not just next week but throughout the year.

A number of special activities are being planned by the Cumberland Fire Department to stress the importance of fire prevention.

It includes the anniversary of the Great Chicago Fire which occurred on October 9, 1871. The disaster took 250 lives and destroyed 17,430 buildings at a direct loss of over $168,000,000.

Safety Meeting To Feature Area Rescue Teams

The eighth annual fire and safety rally sponsored by the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Mill Company will be staged Wednesday evening at Memorial Park in Westernport.

The safety rally is scheduled to get under way at 7:05 p. m. when William G. Barger, this city, director of Civil Defense for Allegany County will sound an alert. This will signify a make-believe emergency in the Westernport-Luke area.

An outstanding feature of the program will be a demonstration by the Mine Rescue Team of Kitzmiller, past national champions. Frank Powers, director of the Maryland Bureau of Mines; Harry Buckley, Edward Stowell and Thomas Powell, district mine inspectors will also participate.

This team was judged United States National Champions in 1951 and 1952. Members of the team are Captain Carl Schell, Chester Evans, James Smith, Carlton Mosser, Richard Sherwood Jr., Lee Hartman, Mervin Sims, Carl Paugh and Wilbur Burrell.

The Maryland Bureau of Mines truck, equipped with various life saving devices and mine rescue equipment, will be used in the demonstrations, as will the Allegany County Civil Defense Truck.

The Allegany County Civil Defense Rescue units will be under the direction of Shannon Twigg. The units are the results of the cooperation of William G. Barger, Robert E. Creaghan, training officer, and Sherley Ewing, director of Maryland Civil Defense Agency.

Fire-fighting demonstrations will be directed by the chiefs of the volunteer fire companies of Westernport, Piedmont, Beryl, Keyser, Bloomington, Barton, McCoole, and Luke.

Explanation of explosives used by the Maryland Military District 549 Ordinance detachment (E.O.D.) will be directed by Major Elmo Lane.

City Favors Bid For More Air Service

Mayor Roy W. Eves yesterday informed the Civil Aeronautics Board of the city's approval of the application of Allegheny Airlines to add a Cincinnati segment to its schedule.

The new segment of the AA route would include Cumberland, according to the firm's application to the CAB.

Details of the application, received yesterday by Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, shows the trip would begin at Cincinnati, Ohio, with intermediate points at Parkersburg, W. Va., Clarksburg-Morgantown, W. Va., Cumberland and Hagerstown, Md., Philadelphia, Pa., and Newark-New York City.

In its application, Allegheny Airlines asked that its certificate of public convenience and necessity on Route 97 be amended to add the 590-mile segment.

The firm plans to use Douglas DC-3 planes, of which it owns 14, for the additional flights.

The application has been docketed as No. 6869 by the CAB, but no date has been set for the hearing.

New Walk Light Plan Goes Into Effect Monday

All Vehicles Will Halt For 15 Seconds

Pedestrians may cross Baltimore Street intersections from all angles during "WALK" intervals, beginning Monday, when a new traffic control plan is placed into effect, Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan announced yesterday.

The work on changing the traffic signals for the new plan will be done tomorrow, according to Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn.

The police chief said pedestrians will have the complete right of way at intersections for 15 seconds on each third change in the traffic light.

During red and green vehicular traffic intervals, neon light signals on traffic light poles will signal "DON'T WALK," but will change to "WALK" when amber "WALK" lights burn from the signal device.

Both To Show Walk

Chief Flynn emphasized that "Walk" will be showing both from the traffic light and from the neon signal plaque during the pedestrian phase.

He said it is believed that 15 seconds will give sufficient time for pedestrians to cross Baltimore Street intersections, but that the interval can be changed if more time is needed.

Commissioner Keegan said yesterday that the Potomac Edison Company's signal technician has been preparing the timing pattern for the traffic light system.

He added that he and Chief Flynn have held a number of conferences on the problem and believe the new plan "is the answer."

Police To Instruct

The new traffic pattern will be similar to one discontinued here about 15 months ago. Under that plan, pedestrians moved on "WALK" lights after each vehicular change.

Keegan said members of the Police Department will be on hand to give instructions when the plan is placed into effect.

The changeover is designed to speed up vehicular traffic and at the same time add to the safety of pedestrans.

Chief Flynn said the present system for pedestrians has resulted in a number of complaints.

New Teachers Will Discuss Their Problems

The first of eight monthly in-service training sessions for new elementary school teachers in Allegany County public schools will be held from 10 a. m. until noon today in the Board of Education Building on Washington Street.

All three elementary school supervisors will participate but Miss Jane E. Botsford will serve as general chairman of the first meeting today. The other supervisors are Miss Winifred Greene and Miss Mildred E. Willison.

There are about 20 elementary school teachers in the county system who are having their first teaching experience this year. Nearly all of them are graduates of Frostburg State Teachers College. The new teachers will discuss their greatest needs with the supervisors and as a result of today's discussions the supervisors will plan monthly programs designed to meet their needs. The meetings will be held on the first Saturday of each month.

The supervisors also are planning a series of quarterly meetings with the elementary teachers now in their second year of teaching. The first of them will be held Saturday, October 23.

This training program for new teachers has been carried on in Allegany County for about four or five years.

Surplus Food Registration Is Monday

County-wide registration for surplus food commodities to be distributed in November will be held three days next week, according to J. Walter Chapman who has charge of the program for the County Commisisoners.

The Red Cross, according to Mrs. Lee Witherup, executive secretary, will register eligibles at the Red Cross Office in Cumberland Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

All Red Cross branches in the county will also register their local eligible families on the same three days. Registration centers will be the same as last month in Frostburg, Lonaconing, Eckhart, Mt. Savage, Midland, Barton and Luke.

In the meantime, the Associated Charities will again certify and register their own clients, as will the Salvation Army. The Allegany County Welfare Board, as in past month, will issue certifications to the eligible people on their relief rolls.

Officials urge all interested persons to register as early as possible Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday.

Grand Jurors To Begin Duties Here On Monday

Benjamin Kamens Serves As Foreman

The October term of Allegany County Circuit Court will get under way at 10 a. m. when the 23 men and women drawn to investigate county crime hear their charge.

Benjamin M. Kamens, South Cumberland merchant, is serving as grand jury foreman. Others from Cumberland on the body are Walter S. Eyler, George Bingham, James L. Weber, Nicholas Spano, Frances J. Hoffman, Ralph W. Buser, Arthur H. Apsey, Ellen M. Dixon, Harry M. Brotemarkle, Roy Knotts and Alex J. Schute.

Also drawn for grand jury service are Daniel O. Bridges and John R. Uhl, both of Mt. Savage; G. Gale Townsend, Frostburg; Floyd C. Newlon, Luke; James A. Welch, Westernport; Wellington Conn, Barton; Sallie S. Sands, McCoole; Vera V. Mann, Little Orleans; Ethel Lawyer, Bedford Road; Frank Alexander, Shaft, and Quinton H. Fike, LaVale.

About 20 persons, most of them law enforcement officers, have been summoned to testify before the grand jury Monday.

The 25 members of the petit jury panel will not report for duty until Monday, October 18.

Blood Donors Needed Monday

The regular monthly visit of the Johnstown Bloodmobile will be made in Cumberland on Monday, and the Red Cross is again appealing for blood donors.

Cumberland's quota for this visit is 150 pints, which means that at least that many persons must volunteer to give blood.

The mobile unit and personnel, assisted by local Red Cross volunteers and local medical staff, will be at the Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street, Monday from noon to 6 p. m.

On Tuesday, the unit will visit Westernport, where the Red Cross is also making a strong appeal for donors.

Blood collected at these regular visits is used to provide hospitals in the county with all blood needed for patients and to meet emergency. Any surplus that is accumulated is used by the Armed Forces or in the anti-polio program.

Thus far, however, the three hospitals in this county have used more blood than has been donated here, officials said.

City Decision On Water Line Expected Soon

Council To Discuss Engineering Plan

One of the decisions which may be made by the Mayor and Council on Monday is who shall plan the water line to the new Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant at North Branch.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said the subject will come up before the Council on Monday, adding there are two possibilities which are being discussed.

The first plan, which has received considerable thought, is for the City Engineering Department to do the planning work and have details checked by a consulting engineer.

The second is to employ a consulting engineering firm to do the entire task.

Officials said there would be considerable savings if the City Engineering Department would do the work, since it could be accomplished with the help of one extra man for about a year and several days' service of a consulting engineer.

A decision must be made within the near future, officials said, since the water may be needed at the new plant in about 18 months.

The water line, informed sources said, will probably be 16 or 18 inches in diameter and will tap the 36-inch crosstown water line near Fort Hill so it will not interfere with water pressures in any area of the city at times of unusual demands from the plant.

Preliminary surveys show that the line will be about 5.3 miles long if it is routed so it will provide a source of water for future development of the city.

It is understood that several major decisions, including plans for the Industrial Highway segment of the Crosstown Expressway plan, and plans of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for yard developments in the area, will affect the planning stages of the water line.

The City Engineering Department has already made two preliminary studies of the route of the new line but has made no attempt, as yet, to evaluate the studies.

Robert T. Regester, the city's consulting engineer in the modernization of the city's filtration plant at Lake Gordon, volunteered what Mayor Eves termed "valuable engineering advice" on the new water line project while here this week to check progress on the filter job.

Power Restored After Cave-In Damages Lines

Electric service in the Barton, Moscow and Mill Run areas appeared to be restored last night, after a cavein at the Campbell Coal Company property had damaged transmission lines.

Potomac Edison crews from Frostburg and Lonaconing were called out Thursday night and worked around the clock, after a section of Hampshire Hill collapsed and shorted out cables.

Service was affected from Keyser, W. Va. to sections of Garrett County, power company officials said. However, emergency crews tied in emergency circuits, so that the entire area had power.

David Kirk, Barton businessman and volunteer firemen said last night that Barton Fire Chief Calvin G. Lamberson was still keeping 15 firemen alerted, in event that power should fail and an emergency occur. The danger, he said was, that the temporary setup might become overloaded, and power fail again.

It was believed generally however, that full service would be restored and the temporary tie-in would be eliminated today.

Power company officials could not be reached last night.

Eight Boys Face Trial Today

A Juvenile Court hearing for eight young boys, ranging in age between nine and 13, accused of virtually wrecking the interior of a house at 227 Humbird Street in a wave of vandalism, has been scheduled for 10 a. m. today before Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

Detective Joseph Stitcher, who investigated the vandalism, said that originally it was believed that only six boys were involved. Further probing expanded the gang to eight boys. Stitcher stated the boys took a picture, necklace and knives from the house.

They apparently entered the place by breaking glass out of the rear door, according to the detective. The house had been vacant since the owner and sole occupant, an elderly woman, was taken to a nursing home in Oakland.

The boys dumped the contents of dresser drawers onto the floor, pulled knobs off the drawers, broke medicine bottles and poured the contents over the floor. Detective Stitcher said the vandalism might have been going on in the vacant house for as long as a month.

The youngsters, all of whom lived within three blocks of the damaged house, were released yesterday morning into the custody of their parents.

Deck Laid For Valley Street Span

S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company crews are swarming over the new Valley Street Bridge, laying the deck for the span which is expected to be opened to traffic this fall. The concrete deck is being laid from the Mechanic Street end of the steel bridge, which was arched to comply with plans for the swift channel plan worked out for Wills Creek by the Corps of Engineers. A blacktop wearing course will be placed on top of the concrete. City officials said water and gas lines will be strung from the bridge, probably next spring. Service lines were re-routed after the old Valley Street Bridge blew up a number of years ago.

Hyde Sees New Coal Program As Help Here

FOA Will Send U. S. Fuel Overseas

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde yesterday announced that he has received Administration assurance that the Western Maryland coal industry will be included in a huge federal coal-buying program.

The Foreign Operations Agency, Hyde said, is setting up the procedure for handling the Administration's program for sending American coal to underdeveloped countries abroad.

This, said Hyde, "will revitalize the whole coal industry in coal-producing areas," and will "be a shot in the arm to Maryland's coal industry."

Although the method of handling the program has not been definitely established, Hyde said, bids will be accepted from all coal-producing areas, including Western Maryland.

Allegany County's coal industry has suffered in recent years from lack of markets due to widespread railroad dieselization and other conversions to other types of fuel.

A recent report of the Maryland Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources points out that, although production from the Pittsburgh (Big Vein) bed in the Georges Creek region has dropped off, there is plenty of coal left in the smaller veins to sustain the industry for a number of years at any peak it has previously reached.

In a speech yesterday before the Republican Women's Club of Frederick County, Hyde accused the "New Dealer" leaders of "political gangsterism" in what he called their "reckless disregard for the facts displayed in the current campaign."

"This irresponsibility is typical of the manner in which the "New Deal" bosses handled the Government during their 20 years in power," Hyde stated. The Congressman, stepping up his campaign for re-election from the Sixth Congressional District, said the "New Deal" leadership is "displaying the same policies in the campaign which the voters overwhelmingly rejected in the elections two years ago."

He charged in a prepared statement that New Dealers, attacking the accomplishments of the 83d Congress, "are completely and deliberately ignoring the facts."

"Taxpayers received more from the recent Congress under Republican control and the inspired leadership of President Eisenhower than ever before," he asserted. Hyde pointed out that for the first time in many years, personal income taxes were reduced and the unpopular excise taxes on many goods, which the consumers had been paying, were reduced or eliminated.

"This marks the end of a trend and the beginning of a time when the working man will be able to spend the fruits of his labor, instead of handing it over to the Government to spend," he said.

Hyde also pointed out that President Eisenhower and his Administration have ended the Korean War and, despite severe provocations, "kept the country out of any new police actions, without losing our world leadership."

Rep. Hyde warned voters against "tying their government in knots" by stalemating both the White House and Congress by turning

Electrification Prizes Offered

Assistant County Agent Joseph A. Weamert this month hopes to be able to select the two 4-H boys with the most outstanding rural electrification demonstrations in this county.

The Maryland Utilities Association is again making available to state 4-H boys and girls an opportunity to win their way to 4-H Club Week at the University of Maryland. The contest allows for as many as 46 winners, two to each county.

The scholarships are for next year's 4-H Club Week at College. The contest closes October 31. Further details may be obtained from Weamert at the Court House.

During October, Martin M. Gordon, soil conservation aide, will speak on conservation at each of the boys' 4-H Club meetings in the county. The first of the meetings will be at the LaVale Club Tuesday night at the home of Kenneth M. Stone, Cash Valley Road.

Weamert also reports that he has rescheduled a meeting with local 4-H Club leaders and members of the Country Boys' 4-H Federation for Wednesday, October 13, at 8 p. m. It originally was planned for Thursday night but was postponed because of poor attendance.

Let's Grow Up, Not Burn Up Is Fire Prevention Slogan

"Let's grow up-not burn up" is the slogan for Fire Prevention Week which will be observed here next week, according to Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker.

Cumberland, he added, will join with thousands of communities in the United States and Canada in observing Fire Prevention Week.

Fire prevention, the chief said, is a matter of life and death, and every citizen owes it to himself, his family and his community to think and act fire-safe, not just next week but throughout the year.

A number of special activities are being planned by the Cumberland Fire Department to stress the importance of fire prevention.

Fire Prevention Week is one of the oldest and most widely observed of all special weeks.

It includes the anniversary of the Great Chicago Fire which occurred on October 9, 1871. The disaster took 250 lives and destroyed 17,430 buildings at a direct loss of over $168,000,000.

Community Chest Advance Gifts Reach $26,554

Formal Kickoff Dinner Tuesday

Advance gifts subscriptions to the Community Chest campaign have reached $26,554, Lynn C. Lashley, co-chairman of the Advance Gifts Committee, reported yesterday at the committee's fourth report luncheon at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

The subscriptions to date represent a substantial increase over the figure for the same stage of last year's drive, Lashley said.

He pointed out that the 163 people who have subscribed so far this year have promised a total of $640 more than they gave last year.

Lashley, who with Edgar D. Vandegrift heads the committee, urged that all Advance Gifts Committee workers complete their calls as soon as possible and be prepared to give final reports at the Chest kickoff dinner Tuesday at 6:15 at Central YMCA.

An all-out effort, Lashley said, could make the committee's report at the kickoff dinner this year "the finest of any on record."

He pointed out that the committee's goal has been cut to $56,000 as a result of a readjustment of other quotas.

Local labor leaders will launch plans for their part in industrial solicitation at a luncheon-meeting Monday at noon at the Fort Cumberland.

Coy F. Dyer, chairman of the Labor Division of the Community Chest campaign, will preside. Others scheduled to attend are William G. Rice, president of Rubber Workers Local 26, George W. Lucas, president of the Building and Construction Trades Council; Earl L. Snyder, president of Local 1874, TWUA, and business agents of various unions.

Robert E. Barnard, chairman of the Classified Division of the Community Chest, and Thomas W. Miller, campaign director, also will attend.

Barnard also will speak at the monthly meeting of Local 265, Brewery Workers, (CIO), at 8 p. m. Monday at the Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street.

The Maryland Bureau of Mines truck, equipped with various life saving devices and mine rescue equipment, will be used in the demonstrations, as will the Allegany County Civil Defense Truck.

The Allegany County Civil Defense Rescue units will be under the direction of Shannon Twigg. The units are the results of the cooperation of William G. Barger, Robert E. Creaghan, training officer, and Sherley Ewing, director of Maryland Civil Defense Agency.

Fire-fighting demonstrations will be directed by the chiefs of the volunteer fire companies of Westernport, Piedmont, Beryl, Keyser, Bloomington, Barton, McCoole, and Luke.

City Favors Bid For More Air Service

Mayor Roy W. Eves yesterday informed the Civil Aeronautics Board of the city's approval of the application of Allegheny Airlines to add a Cincinnati segment to its schedule.

The new segment of the AA route would include Cumberland, according to the firm's application to the CAB.

Details of the application, received yesterday by Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, shows the trip would begin at Cincinnati, Ohio, with intermediate points at Parkersburg, W. Va., Clarksburg-Morgantown, W. Va., Cumberland and Hagerstown, Md., Philadelphia, Pa., and Newark-New York City.

In its application, Allegheny Airlines asked that its certificate of public convenience and necessity on Route 97 be amended to add the 590-mile segment.

The firm plans to use Douglas DC-3 planes, of which it owns 14, for the additional flights.

The application has been docketed as No. 6869 by the CAB, but no date has been set for the hearing.

A Juvenile Court hearing for eight young boys, ranging in age between nine and 13, accused of virtually wrecking the interior of a house at 227 Humbird Street in a wave of vandalism, has been scheduled for 10 a. m. today before Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

Detective Joseph Stitcher, who investigated the vandalism, said that originally it was believed that only six boys were involved. Further probing expanded the gang to eight boys. Stitcher stated the boys took a picture, necklace and knives from the house.

They apparently entered the place by breaking glass out of the rear door, according to the detective. The house had been vacant since the owner and sole occupant, an elderly woman, was taken to a nursing home in Oakland.

The boys dumped the contents of dresser drawers onto the floor, pulled knobs off the drawers, broke medicine bottles and poured the contents over the floor. Detective Stitcher said the vandalism might have been going on in the vacant house for as long as a month.

The youngsters, all of whom lived within three blocks of the damaged house, were released yesterday morning into the custody of their parents.
